

Bruno Flood Control Loan Plan Approved

County, Council OK Pact

San Bruno councilmen Monday approved terms of an agreement with the County Board of Supervisors for financing the major portion of the San Bruno Creek Flood Control Project.

The board is expected to call for construction bids on the project today, having voted approval of the agreement last week over the objections of Supervisor Robert St. Clair.

St. Clair has opposed the city's method of financing the project because residents voted down a bond issue intended to raise the necessary funds in last month's municipal elections.

He said residents should not be taxed against their will to finance the project, and suggested that the city should provide the district the necessary funds in the form of an "outright gift."

Under the approved agreement, the city will loan the district "up to $700,000" for construction of portions of the project within the city limits.

The area within the city, designated "Zone II" of the flood control district, comprises approximately 64 per cent of the entire project area.

Expenditures will be approved by the city as they become due to contractors, and the loan will be repaid over a period of 20 years at an annual rate of $35,000, with the exception of the first year's repayment, which will be less.

Preliminary estimates place total cost of the improvements (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

20 Girls To Vie Tonight

Twenty girls — a record number for the event — will compete Wednesday for the title of "Miss Daly City" in the Westmoor High School's little theatre, at 7:30 p.m.

Admission to the pageant will be a $1 donation, with tickets available at the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the contest, at the Westlake office of The Times and The Post, and at the door.

Robert C. Keropian, principal at South San Francisco's El Camino High School, has reaffirmed his earlier contention that the school's experimental "flexible physical education" program is superior to the conventional five-day-a-week P. E. system.

"We have had results of this seven-year experiment evaluated by some of the top testing authorities in the nation," Keropian said, "and they agree unanimously that the tests are indeed conclusive, and the flexible program is superior to the five-day-a-week system."

Keropian said four separate evaluations of the pilot project have produced the same results. The El Camino project is the only such program in the world today, according to Keropian, and success of the experiment was largely responsible for the recent passage by both the State Senate and Assembly of a bill changing the law regulating physical education in California schools.

C. Carson Conrad, chief of the California Bureau of Health Education, Physical Education and Recreation, issued a statement critical of the El Camino experiment last week.

"It is inappropriate to use any part of the results of this exploratory work as evidence of the merits of flexible scheduling over daily scheduling of physical education," Conrad said.

He charged that "questionable reporting methods" were utilized in evaluating the project, and said there were (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Rec Aide Will Appeal

Patsy Walker, the 24-year-old Daly City Recreation Department employee who claims she was fired from her parttime job because she took part in this week's student demonstrations at S.F. State said last Saturday she will appeal her dismissal "to anyone that will listen."

Miss Walker was fired by Recreation Department head Charles (Chuck) Vincent on the recommendation of Recreation Supervisor Edward Tomasello after she allegedly failed to report for work on Tuesday — the day of the first student outbreak at the college.

Both Tomasello and Vincent were "away for the weekend" and callers were told to contact city manager Edward Frank regarding information on the matter.

Frank said the reason Miss Walker was fired — "the only reason" — was because of her absence on Tuesday.

"This wasn't the first time she failed to show up for work. And when she doesn't report on time she keeps people waiting," Frank said.

The city manager also said Miss Walker did not inform her supervisors that she would be absent.

New Car Wash Is Quietly Approved

The most recent request to construct an automatic car wash in Daly City was quietly approved by the city council Monday night.

Almost two years ago a request to put a coin-operated car wash on a C-1 (light commercial) lot on East Market Street and Hillside Avenue drew crowds of irate homeowners to the council chambers protesting the facility.

Another car wash request filed by a local developer to build an automatic car wash on county property adjacent to the new multi-million dollar Civic Center likewise raised the ire of the Daly City council, who protested the matter to the County Supervisors, noting the business would be downgrading the neighborhood.

But Monday night the council gave unanimous approval to the multi-purpose gasoline station-carwash-parking lot to be located on Geneva Avenue between Castillo and Pasadena with several stipulations, including, prohibiting disabled cars from being stored on the premises; a.m.

lighting be screened from adjoining residences, and; no activity be carried on (in the car wash) between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m.

CLINIC FOR MONEY HANDLERS

A Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce sponsored "Loss Prevention Clinic," a workshop to discuss proper methods of handling cash and "do's and don'ts" for cashing checks, will be held at the Westlake branch of Bank of America June 4 at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Capt. David Hansen of the Daly City police department.

Business leaders and employees who are connected with cashing checks and handling of cash are being encouraged to attend.

Both the contestants and the Kelelani Troupe performed musical and dance numbers with a Hawaiian theme. The San Francisco Islanders also performed.

Carell Funai, "Miss South San Francisco" of 1967, presented the crown to Miss Skola.

Blue-Eyed Blonde Wins S.S.F. Title

Ramona Skola, an 18-year-old College of San Mateo student, won the "Miss South San Francisco" title Saturday night in the city's "official" beauty pageant.

A blue-eyed blonde, Ramona won over eight other contestants in the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored pageant at South San Francisco High School.

A South San Francisco High School student, 17-year-old Debbie Boyle, was first runner-up and Karen Thurman, another South San Francisco High entry, placed third.

Miss Skola, a graduate of El Camino High School, is the daughter of Mrs. Lillian Skola, and is currently a freshman at CSM. She was sponsored by Rousso's Apparel.

"Miss South San Francisco" will compete in the Fiesta Dream Girl Pageant at the San Mateo County Fair.

The Saturday night production consisted of swim suit, talent and evening gown competition, with newscaster Tony Tremayne serving as master of ceremonies and Sherri Rapp, "Miss California" of 1964, as mistress of ceremonies.

Both the contestants and the Kelelani Troupe performed musical and dance numbers with a Hawaiian theme. The San Francisco Islanders also performed.

Carell Funai, "Miss South San Francisco" of 1967, presented the crown to Miss Skola.

Pacifica Chamber of Commerce officials today announced the appointment of a Las Vegas insurance broker as C of C manager.

Johns is married and has three children, and will relocate in Pacifica immediately, chamber officials said.

NARCOTIC USE

Jeff, S.S.F. Reject Poll

Advance Publicity Given Plan Undermines Validity

The Jefferson High School District has declined participation in a countywide survey of juvenile drug use to be taken in schools today.

The South San Francisco Unified High School District trustees also voted 5-0 against participating in the project. Board members said they felt that the survey results would be invalid because of advance publicity received by the poll.

Jefferson's Board of Trustees voted the survey rejection Monday night when the question of participation was put to them by Dr. Harold Tonini, assistant superintendent for instruction.

Trustees generally questioned the validity of the poll would have in light of advance publicity that might have prompted some students to distort their answers.

Dr. Tonini and District Supt. Edward Morgan explained that it had been the original intent of the San Mateo County Narcotic Advisory Committee to spring the survey without notice in all schools simultaneously.

However, they pointed out, the "secrecy" of the poll was dashed when a south county newspaper reporter wrote the story, though urged not to do so by District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson, a member of the committee.

Jefferson trustee James Cooper advanced the motion to disallow participation in the survey by district schools. Trustee Elio Fontana offered the second when it appeared no one else would.

The decision, it was later explained, does not mean the district is rejecting involvement in terms of educating youngsters to the problems of narcotic use.

Acting board chairman Edward Solomon was dissatisfied with the potential absence of secret ballot boxes in the classrooms. To him, collection of the ballots—though they would not carry names—was a problem that would have to be resolved before he voted to participate in the poll.

A member of the audience,

Dr. Sanford A. Marcus, rapped the potential survey of youngsters' use of narcotics (and what types), as an "invasion of privacy" and possibly self-incriminating.

Although he said he recognized the existence of a "grave" narcotic problem he feared the legal aspects of participation.

He urged other sources for the information, including, perhaps, a thorough canvass of doctors regarding the cases that have come to their attention.

It smacks" of Big Brother," Marcus explained.

The Trustee chairman Raymond Milton, who arrived late for the meeting, wanted to know (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

General Plan

Growth Patterns In D.C. Outlined

There will be fewer children and more people in the North County in the late 1970s planning consultant Lawrence Livingston has revealed.

In a report to the Daly City council, Livingston, of Livingston & Blaney, said studies indicate elementary school age children in the Jefferson District will be on the decline after the mid-1970s and present schools—including the proposed Savage School in Serramonte—will be needed to facilitate enrollments until that time.

The schools could later be used for libraries and laboratories.

The General Plan, submitted by the consultants, covered three elementary school districts, one high school district and a unified district (South San Francisco) for a project period up to 1990.

According to the report, a fourth high school will be needed in the Jefferson High School District only if enrollment exceeds present projections, or if the district chooses to reduce enrollments in existing schools, or reshuffles boundaries to include portions of Pacifica or South San Francisco.

In this case, it was recommended a site on San Bruno Mountain be considered. The district had previously considered such a site (Pencate) but shelved the matter following approval of the Serramonte site.

And rather than continue operation of the cramped Midway School site, the plan proposes expansion of the Bayshore and Robertson schools. This would be possible when the Midway Village housing tract is eventually removed.

The tiny Bayshore Elementary School District may, in accord with state policy, be consolidated with the Brisbane district before the end of the planning period, Livingston pointed out.

On the subject of community facilities, the general plan suggested the Civic Center be expanded to include an auditorium (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Parkway Extension Problems Indicated

Traffic generated by the new Guadalupe Canyon Parkway may soon pass seven feet closer to the Colma Intermediate School and homes along the thoroughfare.

The engineering firm of Kierker and Chapman have completed their survey and plans on the so-called "Market Street extension" project, between the Parkway, west to the Mission Street intersection and parts of Hillside Boulevard where it intersects with Market Street.

A public hearing on the matter is scheduled to be held on June 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers at the Daly City Civic Center. A similar hearing with the county will be scheduled at a later date.

Both the city and county own parts of the roadway affected by the project. Funding will come from state, county and city, it was learned. However, the county may turn to assessments to pay their cost of the project.

As presently anticipated, the improved road will sweep westerly off the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway near the Kennedy Elementary School, taking some homes now located on the curve with it. Further down (in front of the Colma school) the widening will take away some 30 parking stalls now used mostly by teachers.

The Jefferson Elementary

School District has already expressed concern to the city over the loss of the parking slots, which will result when the present system of diagonal parking is replaced by parallel spaces.

Moving the roadway seven feet closer to the school buildings will also create more noise inside, the school officials feel.

Don McGlamery, of Kierker & Chapman Engineers, explained the plans to the Daly City Council during a study session this week. He emphasized that no "new" traffic would result from the improvements and that the work was necessary to facilitate present traffic along the roadway.

Beauty Competition Narrowed in Bruno

DEBORAH HENLEY ANGELA RODRIGUEZ MARY CLARKSON

Three finalists have been selected by the pageant committee to compete for the title of "Miss San Bruno 1968."

Pageant Director Stan vander Hede, manager of Eureka Federal Savings, announced that Mary Clarkson, Deborah Henley and Angela Rodriguez had placed in the top three positions during preliminary competition.

The three young ladies will vie for the honor of representing San Bruno during 1968-69 at the Chamber of Commerce "Pageant and Progress Dinner" set for Wednesday, June 12.

Miss Clarkson, a senior at Crestmoor High School, is a native of Maryland and has lived in San Bruno for 12 years. She is 18 years old, stands five feet, four inches and weighs 108 pounds. Her measurements are 35-23-35.

Deborah Henley, better known to friends as Debbie, is an 18-year-old freshman at San Francisco State College. She was born in San Mateo and has lived in San Bruno for the past 14 years. Debbie stands five feet, seven inches and weighs 115 pounds and her measurements are 35-25-35.

Angela Rodriguez is a three-year resident of San Bruno and was born in Puerto Rico. She is 17 years old and is a senior at Crestmoor High School. Angela's vital statistics are: five feet, five-inches tall, 110 pounds, and measurements of 34-23-34.

The winner of the "Miss San Bruno 1968" title will receive an outstanding array of prizes and gifts including an all-expense paid trip to Disneyland via Air California, courtesy Ewald Travel Service, a $125 scholarship donated by the San Bruno Rotary, San Bruno Lions, and San Bruno-Millbrae Soroptimist clubs, a variety of merchandise and clothing gifts from Ross Department Stores, the Patio Shop, Sample City, Coronet Appliance Company, Ser-All Employment Agency and Key Pharmacy.

This year the pageant will be held at the Lazy V Restaurant as part of the Chamber's "Pageant and Progress Dinner." Tickets for the affair are for nominal fee, with advance reservations required through the chamber office.

Following the dinner and selection of "Miss San Bruno 1968," a special 20-minute program will be presented on the progress of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority in developing a plan for rapid transit on the Peninsula.

Camino P.E. Is Praised

"many inconsistencies" involved in the conclusions reached.

"El Camino High School does not have a quality physical education program," he added.

However, Keropian pointed out this week that the school has been selected as a "demonstration center" by the Agency for International Development, and the program has received high praise from physical education experts from all over the world.

"Even the Russians liked it," he said.

A recent letter from Thomas McCormick, backfield coach for the Green Bay Packers, lauds the El Camino physical education system as "one of the best programs in the nation."

McCormick recently conducted a nationwide survey of high school physical education training, and he has inspected "literally hundreds" of P. E. programs, according to Keropian.

Conrad has been one of the chief opponents of the amendment changing state regulations on physical education.

The new law, which is awaiting the governor's signature, will place the matter in the hands of local school boards, instead of specifying a rigid five-day-a-week program.

Jeff High District Won't Join Juvenile Drug Check

why the committee felt the survey necessary.

Does the Drug Advisory Committee feel the number of referrals (to the probation department) are not indicative enough of the use of drugs in the district," he asked.

Superintendent Morgan pointed out that juvenile use of drugs is the top referral problem in the San Mateo County Probation Department.

Morgan declared that if the survey "is going to be valid," it must be taken in all high schools in the county at the same time, without advance notice to get a true response.

He said, "We certainly want to cooperate."

But, he questioned the validity of the poll now.

Trustee Elio Fontana asserted that he was "very concerned" about the use of narcotics by youngsters, no matter how widespread the use.

The problem is there, he said, and whether large or small, requires remedial action.

The basic instruction to the students would be, Dr. Tonini said, that no one in the school was to see the poll results, or the individual ballots; that ballots would not identify the students completing them; and that narcotic use since June 1967 was the only period of being surveyed.

It had been pointed out by advisory committee members that the only way to get a clear picture of the extent of narcotic use was to go to the students. Fear also was expressed over the possible use of the statistical information compiled from the survey.

The advisor committee had indicated, trustees were told, that certain statistical data pertinent relating to each district, perhaps each school, could be made available.

Trustees indicated they were concerned over the results that might come from comparison of district - against - district or school - vs. school - statistics on narcotics use.

It would be difficult to keep the survey results "top secret" for any length of time, Morgan noted.

site on the east side of Sullivan Avenue. It was likewise recommended both the Cow Palace and War Memorial Building Community Center be expanded.

Livingston's report indicated the Cow Palace should be expanded to include the adjacent drive-in theater property, but turned thumbs down on a Citizens' Advisory Committee's recommendation that the Cow Palace be promoted as a convention center.

"(This) is not feasible because of competition from the new Oakland stadium-arena complex and from the Civic Auditorium-Brooks Hall and the proposed Yerba Buena Center convention and exhibit hall in San Francisco," the report explained.

Although park proposals in the new $105,000 General Plan indicate Daly City's recreational resources are not adequate, it takes into account three factors that dictate a need for less acreage than in most cities with Daly City's population: local weather, present turfed playgrounds in a closely spaced area (particularly west of Junipero Serra Freeway), and, San Francisco's nearby parks and recreational facilities.

However, the plan locates either an urban park or school grounds suitable for recreation within a half mile of every home.

"Regional parks, typical beach and mountain sites of several hundred acres or more, serve residents of the surrounding area region as well as Daly City, and should be owned and operated by the state or regional agency and not by the city," the plan explains.

at $608,000, in addition to $67,500 already spent on engineering surveys. The city contributed the initial $67,500.

The project calls for construction of a number of covered drains, improvement of existing open channels, construction of a new pumping station, and expansion of an existing pumping station.

While admitting the timing will be "very close," city officials are hopeful the project will be completed before the next winter rains begin.

In other business at Monday's meeting, Mayor George Ingham announced four appointments to the city's planning commission, three appointments to the Park and Recreation Commission, one appointment to the traffic safety committee and an appointment to the personnel board.

Al Smith and Leon Miller were named to the planning group, and two new members, William Cox and Stanley Plant, were appointed.

Named to the parks and recreation commission were Anthony Governale, Jesus Garcia and Richard Liberty, and Mrs. E. Bublack was appointed to the traffic safety committee.

A contract for installation of additional lighting devices in City Park was awarded to Bergesen Electric Company. The firm's bid of $3,762 was the lowest of four received on the project.

A resolution requesting that the maximum speed on Skyline Drive be reduced from 50 miles per hour to 45 miles per hour was adopted, and ordered forwarded to the Division of Highways.

The resolution was adopted after a resident of the neighborhood, Henry W. Crosby, told councilmen the 50 mile per hour speed represents a hazard at the intersection of Skyline and Sharp Park Road.

Mayor Ingham presented an "award of recognition for service to the city" to the widow of Joseph Madden at the meeting. Madden served in a number of volunteer capacities, including chairmanship of the city's volunteer board, over a period of 26 years.

A plaque was also presented to former mayor and councilman Donald Risso for "outstanding contributions" to the city. Risso, who retired from the board this year upon his appointment as postmaster, served as mayor twice.

satisfaction the feasibility of adding to Westmoor, either as an expansion or as a duplication of the school, at a saving of expenditure for the Serramonte land. We are aware that the Serramonte land must be returned to the state if not used, but we are also aware that we will be taxed for the land when bond redemption time comes around. As residential areas mature they contribute fewer and fewer students to the overall high school pattern. Would we not be better off to enlarge Westmoor to absorb the present population peak and then consider the location of another school elsewhere?

Serramonte — How many children do you expect to obtain as Serramonte students from the apartment houses immediately adjacent to Serramonte. Where does Serramonte situate in relation to the proposed freeways? Referring to what is the planned ratio of counselors to students? From its inception this fall, will Serramonte offer at least the number and variety and depth of courses at Westmoor?

Superintendent Morgan answered this query Monday with a "yes," adding that for the first year while both schools are located on the Westmoor campus that both schools will "complement each other."

Morgan said some of the questions could be answered easily, but that others will have to come from "dead files" information concerning actions and studies of four and five years ago.

Gun Threat To Grocer In S.S.F.

An armed robber held up a neighborhood grocery market in South San Francisco Sunday morning, and escaped with about $50 after threatening the owner with a revolver, police said.

Officers said a young Negro man entered the El Camino Market, 772 El Camino Real, about 7:40 a.m., and ordered owner Filiberto Teani to "hand over the money" after brandishing the gun.

The suspect, in his mid-twenties and about five-feet, seven-inches tall, fled on foot after the holdup.

New SSF Ethnic Group Conducts First Meeting

A group of South San Francisco business and civic leaders are attempting to establish a "Business Leadership Council" to better the lot of the city's Mexican-American population.

A steering committee consisting of Police Chief John Fabbri, Mexican-American Leader Antonio Montoya, Jack E. Head, a Pacific Telephone Co. executive, and Jose E. Benal, employment consultant with the probation department, met Saturday to map plans for forming the new council.

Montoya, member of the San Mateo County Human Resources Commission and a leading spokesman for the city's Spanish-speaking minority, told the other committee members there is presently "no serious problem" in the Mexican community's relationship with other residents, "but we should take preventative steps before a problem arises."

Due to an influx of first generation Mexican-Americans, there are now many persons in the city who speak no English, he said, and this presents a hardship in the area of employment.

"Many of these people are not aware of the employment opportunities available to them," Montoya said.

The committee members also expressed concern over an apparent "serpentine" in the city. Montoya said the Spanish-speaking residents, comprising about 20 per cent of the city's population, are isolated because of a language barrier, rather than "discrimination."

Among the suggestions voiced at Saturday's meeting were a proposal to provide more vocational training in the city schools, and the employment of a "liaison man" to assist and advise the Spanish-speaking residents in obtaining employment.

The steering committee will meet again June 6 in the basement of the Orange Avenue Library building.

San Bruno Station Held Up

A San Bruno service station attendant was robbed of about $130 at gunpoint Sunday night.

Police said the victim, Robert M. Thompson, 18, of Millbrae, was unharmed in the 11 p.m. robbery of the Union 76 service station at 170 West San Bruno Avenue.

Thompson told police that he had been seated in the office when a car drove into the pump area, leaving before he could reach them.

As he walked back to the station's office, Tom Thompson was confronted by a man who pointed a blue-stepped automatic revolver — a 32 or 38 caliber — at him and demanded:

"Let's go out to the cash box."

The attendant and the robber returned to the pump area, where the cash box was emptied of its paper money.

Thompson was ordered then to return to the office with the hold-up man.

In the station, the suspect spotted another cash drawer on the counter. He ordered Thompson to open it.

All of the paper money again was scooped up by the man, who then shoved the attendant and fled north on Mills Avenue.

The suspect was wearing a red toboggan cap, that was pulled over his ears, faded blue trousers and a dark-colored jacket.

He was described as being about 5-11 and weighing 160 pounds.

Thieves in Bruno Get $2500 Loot

Burglars, who took a long, hole-punching route to get inside, got $2500 in cash and miscellaneous small tools from Ted Barrera's Shell Station in San Bruno for their toll.

San Bruno police said the station, at Skyline Boulevard and Sharp Park Road, was robbed sometime between midnight and 7 a.m. Saturday.

According to 32-year-old Herrera's report to the authorities, a floor safe in the office was looted of $2,293 and a file cabinet of $207 worth of Blue Chip Stamps.

Tools Taken

Tools, including an electric drill and a battery tester, plus miscellaneous wrenches, were removed from the lubrication and service room.

Police said the burglars gained entry into the station in this manner:

They either climbed through a men's restroom window or picked the lock on its door, then punched a hole in the sheetrock wall, using it as a foothold for them to climb up to the ceiling where they made another hole.

After crawling through the ceiling opening into the attic, they crawled three or four feet to the other south side wall that enclosed the storeroom of the gas station.

Punch Third Hole

The suspects then punched a hole in that wall, gaining access to the storeroom.

They went through the storeroom into the lubrication room, from which were removed several pieces of small equipment.

Girl, 9, Hit By Car On D.C. Street

A nine-year-old Daly City girl was in good condition in Mercy's Help Hospital today after she was struck by a car near her home Sunday afternoon.

Yolanda G. Resta, of 771 East Market Street, suffered multiple lacerations and bruises when she was hit by a car driven by Anthony G. Resta, 55, of 364 Octavia Street, San Francisco.

Murder Charge

Judge Rules SF Man Not Guilty

Mose Baker, a San Francisco carpenter accused of murdering a fellow worker at a Daly City construction project, was found not guilty Friday by Superior Judge J. A. Branson.

Baker, 28, had waived a jury trial and submitted the case on the basis of the transcript of the preliminary hearing in Municipal Court.

The defendant was accused of fatally stabbing William White, 42, of San Francisco, during a quarrel over money lost in a dice game at the construction site at Hoffman and Villa streets.

Judge Branson said the testimony of witnesses in the preliminary hearing all pointed to self-defense. White, the jurist said, was the aggressor and had gone after Baker with a hammer.

According to the evidence, work was called off before noon because of rain and the men started drinking whiskey and playing cards and dice in the construction shack. Several fights between White and Baker were broken up during the course of the day, witnesses said. Judge Branson said it was Baker who backed away each time, indicating that he did not want to fight.

When White came at him with the hammer, however, Baker stabbed him five times. The defendant testified that he could not remember the stabbing.

Housewife Injured In Car Mishap

A San Bruno housewife was injured near Half Moon Bay Sunday when her car, being towed by a pickup truck, crashed into a utility pole.

Mrs. Linda R. Scally, 20, of 244 West Angus Avenue, told highway patrolmen she was driving east on Half Moon Bay Road when her car stalled. She accepted an offer by Albert F. Quadres, 17, of San Gregorio, to tow her car in an effort to get it started.

The pickup, however, spun out of control on a curve and went into a ditch. Mrs. Scally's auto also left the road and hit the pole.

She was taken to County General Hospital by ambulance after first aid treatment at the Half Moon Bay Medical Center, treated for a chest injury and released.

Yard Burning Ban Urged

San Mateo County, along with the other Bay Area counties, must place an outright ban on "backyard burning" if the Bay Area is ever to achieve its goal of clarifying the air, to at least the 1950 level, Milton Feldstein, Director of Technical Services of the Bay Area Pollution Control District, told the San Mateo County Council of Mayors at its meeting in South San Francisco last Friday.

Agreeing that the task "is a very unpopular topic," Feldstein said the measure must be put in its proper context.

Already, he said, the Bay Area has about the same area and the same sources of air pollution as does Los Angeles. Two major problems occur, according to Feldstein—haze in the winter time and smog in the summer. Haze, he explained, is caused by visible sources of contamination such as factories emitting dust into the air, while smog occurs as the result of invisible contaminants which chemically react with other substances in the atmosphere.

"Any kind of burning," he asserted, "contributes to both kinds of problems."

But smog, a "photochemical process," occurs during warm temperatures, sunshine, air inversion and low wind speeds. "We sometimes say, there is nothing better in the fall than the smell of burning leaves. But this is not just good, clean smoke."

"There are about 2½ million sources of backyard burning in the Bay Area. For every ton of material burned, 250 pounds of organic materials are placed in the air."

Already, Feldstein contended, 70 per cent of the contamination contributed by industry has been eliminated at a cost of $60 million in capital outlay. Agricultural burning is limited to favorable air conditions. Vehicles are being controlled at the state and federal levels. The last uncontrolled source, he claimed, is "backyard burning."

"We'll never get back to the standards of the Sierras," the air pollution control expert maintained, but, he said, a realistic goal is to return to the air quality of the Bay Area in 1950, when the first plant damage occurred and the first minor eye irritants began to appear.

In answer to a question of Mayor Charles C. Bunker of Woodside, Feldstein said the ban would not include fireplaces or barbecues.

Three Survive Crash With Freight Train

Three Peninsula men escaped with minor injuries Friday night when the car in which they were riding was struck and knocked some 40 to 50 feet by a Southern Pacific freight train at the Marsh Road crossing south of Redwood City, California, highway patrolmen reported today.

Officers reported the driver, Harold Henry Kuersten, 36, a telephone company employee of 844 Antoinette Lane, South San Francisco, reported he did not notice or hear the railroad signals at the railroad crossing until almost before the crash. They said, however, his vehicle left 69 feet of skid marks before it was hit by the train.

Taken to Palo Alto Stanford Medical Center for treatment of minor injuries was Kuersten and two passengers in his car, Don Davis, 21, of 1046 El Camino Real, Burlingame, and Frank McCarthy, 21, of 3779 Cork Lane, South San Francisco.

The engineer of the freight, Walter Kelley of Castro Valley, said he was northbound about 35 miles per hour when he saw a car pull onto the tracks.

Grinding Crash—2 Injured

Two drivers were injured, one seriously, in a smashing head-on crash on Skyline Boulevard in San Bruno after a harrowing speed-up, slow-down battle of nerves on the two-lane highway last Tuesday night.

San Bruno police said Michael Joseph Quinn, 25, of 90 Salada Avenue, Pacifica, was northbound on Skyline, attempting to pass an old model car going in the same direction at 10:40 p.m.

Police reported this then happened:

Traveling about 40 miles an hour, Quinn was abreast of the car when the vehicle beside him increased its speed.

Quinn slowed down; so did the other car. Quinn speeded up again, but the other auto also accelerated, and Quinn couldn't get his car back into the right lane. He saw a car driven by Patrick Henry Adams, 54, of Moss Beach, coming at him in the southbound lane. He accelerated in another attempt to pass, but, the other car also speeded up. After slowing down once more, only to have the other car slow down again, Quinn pulled to the left in hopes of avoiding the oncoming Adams car.

The Quinn and Adams cars collided head-on at 40 miles an hour, while the third car—its slow-down, speed-up battle won—continued on its way, police said.

Quinn was treated at Peninsula Hospital for scalp lacerations and was not admitted.

However, Adams was admitted for observation, police said. He was reported to be in "satisfactory" condition by hospital sources.

Sister Louise Will Leave Mary's Help

Sister Louise, administrator of Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, has been appointed administrator of Hotel Dieu, a 280-bed general hospital operated by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul in El Paso, Texas. Her assignment, which will begin in mid-August, was announced recently by Sister Mary Rose, Visitatrix of the Western Province of the Daughters of Charity at the Provincial House in St. Louis.

Sister Louise will be exchanging posts with Sister Teresa, administrator of Hotel Dieu since March 1, 1962. Sister Teresa will assume administration of Mary's Help Hospital about August 10th.

Sister Louise, who became administrator of Mary's Help Hospital three years ago, will leave Daly City on June 12th to return to Marillac College in St. Louis for a summer of classes in Theology.

Sister was responsible for the smooth transfer of service from the old 147-bed hospital on Guerrero Street in San Francisco to the new $3½ million, 10-story, 250-bed structure in Daly City which was physically and conceptually earmarked as a first-rate modern medical facility, designed to serve both North

San Mateo and San Francisco counties. During these past three years Sister Louise has been responsible for the establishment of the present high standard of patient care and sound administrative policy at Mary's Help, therein fulfilling a promise of quality care to the communities served by Mary's Help. Her graciousness, intelligence and skilled judgment have served as an incalculable source of inspiration during the past three years. In addition to strengthening existing teaching affiliations, Sister Louise initiated a unique course in hospital dentistry by affiliation with the University of the Pacific School of Dentistry and developed other affiliations in X-ray technology with City College of San Francisco School of X-ray Technology and nursing education with the University of San Francisco School of Nursing and City College of San Francisco School of Nursing. New services, planned by Sister Louise and to be initiated, include a radioisotope laboratory and electromyography service. During Sister Louise's tenure, Mary's Help has also received more than a quarter of a million dollars in federal funds to be applied toward the completion of two of the top three unfinished floors of the Hospital. Planning of a Coronary Care Unit and Inpatient Psychiatric services are also under way.

Sister Teresa, as well as Sister Louise, is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators. She has served on several councils of the Texas Hospital Association and is currently on the Medical Care Advisory Committee of the State Department of Public Welfare. She is also a member of the Diocesan (El Paso) Ecumenical Commission.

worked unceasingly with community leaders and civic officials in an effort to translate the services and needs of the Hospital to the public. Her departure from Mary's Help will be felt deeply by all who have worked with her.

EXCHANGES POSTS — Sister Louise, administrator of Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, has been appointed administrator of Hotel Dieu, a 280-bed hospital in El Paso, Texas. Sister Teresa, present administrator of Hotel Dieu, will assume administration of Mary's Help Hospital about August 10.

Social Drama At Council Meet

By DON GRIERSON
South San Francisco councilmen came face-to-face with a classic social dilemma last week when an ex-convict with a two-page "rap sheet" requested permission to operate a business in the city.

Richard Tooke, a 37-year-old barber with a history of narcotics arrests, appealed to the mayor and council to overrule a decision by Police Chief John Fabbri denying him a business license for a barber shop.

Released last month after serving six months in San Francisco Jail at San Bruno, Tooke is currently under three years' probation in connection with a series of alleged narcotics offenses.

Fabbri told Mayor Frank Ber-tucelli and council members he approved a business license for Tooke in 1964, shortly after he completed an earlier jail term, but "it didn't work out."

"He was subsequently arrested at his place of business for illegal activities carried on there," the chief said.

Tooke, in his plea to the council, said he has invested more than $1,000 in a small barber shop, and needs "to open the business in order to support his family."

State officials have approved both his barber's license and the shop license, he said, and the local police "are the only people standing in my way."

A personable and ingratiating man, Tooke said he could "hardly blame Chief Fabbri," because "I know I have been a thorn in his side for a long time now. But all I need is a chance."

Chief Fabbri remained unconvinced. "I know from past experiences that there is only a remote chance that a man with this man's background will succeed and go straight in society," he said.

"I have to think of the rest of our citizens in considering these matters," Mayor Bertucelli and council members told Tooke they did not wish to deny him an opportunity to "live a good and productive life," but said they must "stand behind the chief of police. He is a fair and a just man."

They advised the applicant to sell his shop to someone else, then work for the owner.

"After five years if you have lived the type of life you say you are contemplating, then the courts will expunge your record and we will grant the business license," Mayor Bertucelli said.

Busy Week Coming Up At Cap High

June 3 through 13 will be busy days "of work and pleasure" for Capuchino students.

A traditional and special "All-School Awards" assembly will be held on June 4 under the direction of counselor William Kinnealy.

That same afternoon drama teacher Ken Ton will host a Fine Arts Picnic and Awards Presentation to honor outstanding and industrious students in the Fine Arts Field.

On Wednesday evening June 5, the P-TA will sponsor its third Athletic Award Dessert to honor sports participants in boys' P.E.

ciation to receive their recognition for achievement at an annual awards barbecue.

One of the most eagerly anticipated events is the yearbook presentation which will occur at noon on June 7, followed by a soc hop that evening sponsored by the Yearbook Staff where students will receive their copies of this year's publication.

The last week of school, June 10-14 will follow a different time schedule than usual. Minimum days all week were recommended to Supt. Lessinger by a committee of teachers and counselors after extensive study.

This schedule starts at 8:15 and ends at 12:30 each day of the last week for students.

Teachers will remain on duty full time to correct final exams and discuss them on an individual basis with students before each go their separate ways during the summer.

GROUND BREAKING FOR CABRILLO—Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Thursday for the new Cabrillo Freeway which will eventually link up the Junipero Serra Freeway and Skyline Boulevard in Daly City. The new route will be a six-lane freeway costing some $1,800,000, with construction being performed by Peter Kiewit & Sons and will take a year to complete. Digging in their shovels to get the project under way are (left to right) Daly City Councilman Ed Dennis; Kit Minken, assistant to Assemblyman Leo Ryan; Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett; Daly City Councilman Michael DeBernardi, Moon Lee, of the State Highway Commission; Daly City Councilman Tony Giammona, and Al Hart, state district engineer. DMV Urges Sr. Citizens Study Rules

Older California motorists who have taken a refresher course in rules of the road and driving fundamentals stand a better chance of renewing their drivers' licenses on the first attempt.

John Krieger, manager of the Daly City office, emphasized the readiness of his office to participate in any refresher course of this kind which might be organized with community backing.

"May is Senior Citizens Month in California," he said, "but we are extending a helping hand to our older drivers the year round, in the interest of highway safety."

"Age alone won't rule out any driver," emphasized Krieger. "An older driver who is physically capable and alert may not even be asked to take a behind-the-wheel test. However, all drivers should be prepared to take such a test if the examiner feels it is advisable," he said.

Probation Is Given DC Man

Cortez John Fernandez, accused of shooting another man in the face during a wild drinking brawl in a Daly City home, was sentenced Thursday to 90 days in county jail and placed on probation for three years.

Fernandez, originally charged with assault with intent to commit murder, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of exhibiting a weapon in a "rude, angry and threatening manner."

Sentence was imposed by Superior Judge J. A. Branson.

Fernandez, 30, told Probation Officer P. A. Tye that the victim, George Pastras, had been ejected from his home at 358 Hillside Boulevard in Daly City after causing a disturbance but came back and got in a fight with his brother, Pedro Fernandez.

Pedro started hitting him with a gun, the defendant related, and he, John Fernandez, grabbed the gun and fired all of its bullets into the ceiling. Later, the defendant told Tye, he was sitting clicking the hammer when the gun discharged and hit Pastras in the mouth. Fernandez said he must have reloaded the gun but was so drunk he did not remember doing it.

Tye noted that the only witnesses were relatives of the defendant and that no one including the victim, wanted to prosecute Fernandez.

Funds Needed For Bortolazzo Scholars

An appeal to the community to contribute funds for the Dr. Julio Bortolazzo scholarship at College of San Mateo was issued today by Steve Smuin, editor of the San Matean.

Only $1,650 has been collected in the drive for the $10,000 being sought for the two scholarships. Of this amount only $150 has been contributed by the community at large, the rest coming from the students.

"We realize that we won't make our original goal," said

Smuin. "But we must have $4,000 available by Tuesday in order to establish the two yearly scholarships of $100 each. One will be to a minority student. Dr. Bortolazzo will personally select the winners each year."

The college president is leaving next month to return as president of Delta Junior College.

Funds may be sent the Bortolazzo Scholarship Fund, care of The San Matean, 1700 West Hillsdale Boulevard, San Mateo.

If you don't like baseball statistics, don't read this week's column. It's strictly for the figure-watchers, those mystics who can derive from scattered numbers entire theorems and philosophic postures by correlating and juxtaposing and comparing and in general manipulating them in manners which wouldn't make sense to an Einstein.

We will merely present what we feel are some interesting and unique statistics. You can draw your own conclusions. We'll take you out of the standard realm of batting averages and earned run averages and runs batted in, etc., and introduce you to some new approaches in statistics produced — though not invented by — a small publishing company in Lakewood, California, called "Baseball-for-Fans Publications." They're making available to the public the kinds of statistics which heretofore were available only to people inside the game.

For instance, they rate a batter on what they call a Batter Profile Ring, a system which considers the four basic offensive elements: 1) ability to reach base 2) ability to move baserunners 3) hitting with power 4) batting prowess (the ability to make contact with the ball).

Three performance statistics are used to develop the rating: 1) On-Base Frequency 2) Strikeout Frequency (the philosophy being that the strikeout contributes nothing to offense because it doesn't put the ball in play) 3) Power Index, which defines total bases per hit.

It's all rather complicated, but under this system the three highest rating hitters in the majors last year were Al Kaline, Billy Williams and Carl Yastrzemski. Grouped right behind them were Hank Aaron, Bob Allison, Bob Aspromonte, Norm Cash, Tony Conigliaro, Al Farrara, Tony Gonzalez, Jimmy Hart, Will Horton, Ron Hunt, Harmon Killebrew, Dick McAuliffe, Tim McCarver, Don Mincher, Joe Morgan, Tony Oliva, Adolfo Phillips, Frank Robinson, Pete Rose, Ronnie Santo and Rusty Staub.

The Pitcher Profile Ratings consider the ability of the pitchers to 1) prevent batters from reaching base 2) prevent runners from scoring 3) ability to strike out the batter. Three performance statistics are used to develop the ratings: 1) Opponent's on-base frequency 2) Opponent's scoring frequency 3) Strikeout frequency.

Eight pitchers rated tops under the Baseball-for-Fans publications system: starting pitchers Jim Bunning, Gary Peters and Stan Williams, and relievers Ted Abernathy, Mo Drabowsky, Don McMahon, Eddie Watt and Hoyt Wilhelm. Eight other top raters were starters Dick Bosman, Cisco Carlos, Jim Hardin, Mike McCormick and Phil Niekro, and firemen Dave Baldwin, Don Locker and Ron Taylor.

There were some fascinating isolated statistics. Richie Allen reached base on long hits 12 per cent of the time he came to bat. Frank Robinson did it 11 per cent of the time. Jim Wynn had a fantastic power index of 1.99, which means he hit virtually a double every time he connected for a hit.

Yastrzemski was on base 41 per cent of the time he came to bat. Kaline was on 40 per cent, Ron Santo 37 per cent. Yast had a tremendous Bases Gained Index (the same as slugging average, but including consideration of walks and hit by pitched balls) of .664. The closest to him in baseball was Allen, with a .613.

Roberto Clemente had a remarkable statistic. His batting contact average (in other words, what he would have hit if he never struck out) was .434.

And Baseball-for-Fans Publications gives us a statistics which may be the most valid yet for at least helping to determine most valuable players — the percentage of a club's runs produced by an individual. In that category, Hank Aaron walked away with the honors, as he scored 29 per cent of Atlanta's total runs last year. In the NL the leader was, of course, Yastrzemski, with a mark of 26.2 per cent. Killebrew had a 25.9.

Baseball-for-Fans Publications pitching statistics are equally unique and interesting. For instance, despite his "bad" year, in 1967 Juan Marichal had the highest average of innings pitched per performance (several tied with him) in the majors. Marichal logged an average of 7.2 innings every time he took the mound. Tied with him were National Leaguers Ken Holtzman, Ferguson Jenkins, Jim Bunning and Gaylord Perry. In the other league, the top average was an even 7 innings per game, and Dick Bosman, Steve Hargan, Joe Horlen and Catfish Hunter tied for that mark.

Undoubtedly the hardest man to hit in the majors last year was Ted Abernathy, who allowed an average of the equivalent of only five hits per nine inning game, gave up a homerun to every 371 batters, and against whom opponents managed a mere .170 composite batting average.

Toughest guy in the AL to hit, statistically speaking, was Chicago rookie Cisco Carlos. He came up later in the season but gave batters fits. They could hit only .161 against him, and averaged only five hits per complete game.

Other hurlers rough to hit, or who were at least hard to make contact on, were Luis Tiant, who struck out 25 per cent of the batters he faced, and Grant Jackson and Gary Nolan, who K'd 21 per cent of the hitters they threw against.

If you're interested in the losers, batters hit .327 against Larry Sherry and .321 against Curt Simmons, both of whom, obviously, are now retired. Nick Willhite allowed 1.8 homers a game, Bob Hendley 1.6. Jim Cosman walked 16 per cent of the hitters he faced.

One of the pitching statistics to which close attention is paid by all baseball men is the ratio of strikeouts to walks. Using that as a criteria, Dick Hall and John Merritt were the most effective chukkers in the majors last year. Hall had a fantastic ratio of 12.3 strikeouts to every walk, while Merritt's ratio read 6.7.

Locally, the Giants fared well in individual Baseball-for-Fans statistics. Ron Hunt, playing for Los Angeles last year, was the toughest man in the majors to strike out, fanning on only 5 per cent of his plate appearances. Jesus Alou was also among the best in this category, going down on the big K only 7 per cent of the time.

Aside from Mickey Mantle, Giants pretty well dominated base on ball frequencies. Mantle led the majors, walking in 19 per cent of his plate chances, but Jim Davenport had a mark of 17 per cent, Dick Dietz 17 per cent, Norm Sieburn (mostly as a pitcher-hitter, of course), 19 per cent, and Jack Hiatt, 14 per cent.

Wednesday, May 29, 1968 THE POST

Jimmy Hart accounted, in one way or another, for 28 per cent of the Giants runs. Hal Lanier, we feel, had a remarkable record in this area for a .220 hitter with little power, as he was good for 12.1 per cent of Giant scoring.

According to a myriad of Baseball-for-Fans stats, Perry was the toughest Giant pitcher to hit.

Willie McCovey had one of the league's better power index marks, 1.94, and he was followed on the Giants by Hart (1.76), Mays (1.72), Haller (1.66), Hiatt (1.57), and Dietz (1.56).

Big Willie was also high in the category of reaching base on long hits. He did it 10 per cent of the time. Hart and Mays did it 9 per cent, Haller 8 per cent. McCovey also had the Giants' best bases gained index, .582.

Hiatt, a very effective batter, was on base 38 per cent of the time, followed by the surprising Dietz (36), Hart (36), and McCovey (36).

And finally (no surprise), Hart had the best Giant Batter Profile Rating with (surprise), Jim Davenport running second.

BOWLING ACTIVITY

The activities at the Westlake Bowl and Serra Bowl in Daly City and Sea Bowl in Pacifica are prepared weekly for the Post by staff members of each business. Inquiries should be directed to them, rather than the Post.

Westlake Bowl

By JIM GRUBBS
Bob's Barber Shop took the championship of the Golden Gate Handicap League as the Westlakes ended the final night of competition. Harry Smith continued his fine shooting to take top honors with games of 157-205 and 254 for a 614 series. Jan Riney topped a tremendous 901 series with a great 290 game to top the four game Ladies Invitational League last Tuesday. Jan started with a big 225, rolled a 203 second game then shot her terrific 290 effort and finished with 183 for a 901 series.

The Westlakes team evened the match game series with the Hunters Point team by winning two games and total pins last Wednesday evening. The aircraft carrier team won the first game 148-79, the second 90-84, then dropped the third game 79-70. However, they won the point for total pins 249-241. The final league score stands USS Olympic 5053, Hunters Point 5024.

Jan Pedone led the Skyline Trio League on the second night of summer competition as he posted a 204 game and 583 series.

Jean Lugini was back in the pocket as she led the ladies in the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives with a 193 game and 523 series. Don Hughes led the men with 204 and 570.

The secretary of the West Port Merchants League is looking through the ABC and WIBC rulebook to determine how to handle one bowler with two averages — one left handed and one right handed. Meanwhile Maie Hurst and Ralph Cordero were the leaders for the week with 152-208 and 204-592 respectively.

Watch for the winter league get together sessions starting next week.

The chorus is under the direction of Dennis Dickey and will be accompanied by piano. Soloists will be presented by Edw. Reade, Dick Neave, Marie Sordani, and Ellamae Scholtz.

The chorus has a busy schedule for the month of June. Appearances will be in both Daily City and San Francisco and will include entertaining at the Linda Mar Convalescent Home on June 4. HILTON INN EXECUTIVES—Henri Lewin, vice president of Hilton Hotels Corporation, in charge of the Northern California Division, and Donald J. Devoto, manager of the Hilton Inn, San Francisco International Airport.

Special Summer Package Another Hilton Feature

A "FUN-IN-THE-SUN" summer special for Peninsula residents wishing to "get away from it all" without having to travel too far, has been announced by Donald J. Devoto, manager of the Hilton Inn at San Francisco's International Airport. A 50 per cent discount on room or suite rates for local residents on any Friday, Saturday or Sunday evening during the summer months, beginning with the Memorial Holiday weekend, and subject to availability, of course. This is resort living at "half price," just minutes from home. Daytime hours may be spent relaxing and enjoying the sun around the Hilton's Olympic-sized swimming pool, and, in the evening, elegant dining facilities are available in the newly redecorated French Corner restaurant, which features the famous Chef's Table, Al Thomas, strolling violinist, and Maurice Anger at the piano. Quiet evening entertainment is provided in the Mark Twain Cocktail Lounge, or, for the swingers, Bill Gilbert's wild Tiger Room provides music for dancing by the popular "Joint Venture" and dancing by the Tiger girls.

ENTRANCE TO THE TIGER, now featuring the "Joint Venture." Hilton Inn at San Francisco International Airport.

Experienced Staff Of Executives Hilton Inn

AN EXPERIENCED STAFF of hotel and restaurant executives are on hand at the Hilton Inn at San Francisco International Airport to provide guests with excellent service and facilities. Assisting Manager Donald J. Devoto as front office manager is Clark Delaney, who, before joining the Hilton Inn staff, received front office experience at the downtown San Francisco Hilton. Tod Anderson, who was the assistant to the auditor at the downtown Hilton, is head auditor. Assistant manager in charge of service is Paul Chance, who has been with the Hilton Inn since its opening in 1961. Horst Dzura is the Maitre d'Hotel. Executive Chef Jack Castella joined the staff after serving at the Palmer House in Chicago and the Statler-Hilton in Dallas. Klaus Diederich is the Director of Food and Beverage Operations, coming to the Inn from the San Francisco Hilton. Head housekeeper is Mrs. Irma Harpster, and Mrs. Ann Bolin is secretary to the manager. Devoto became manager of the Hilton Inn after serving as resident manager of the downtown Hilton since its opening.

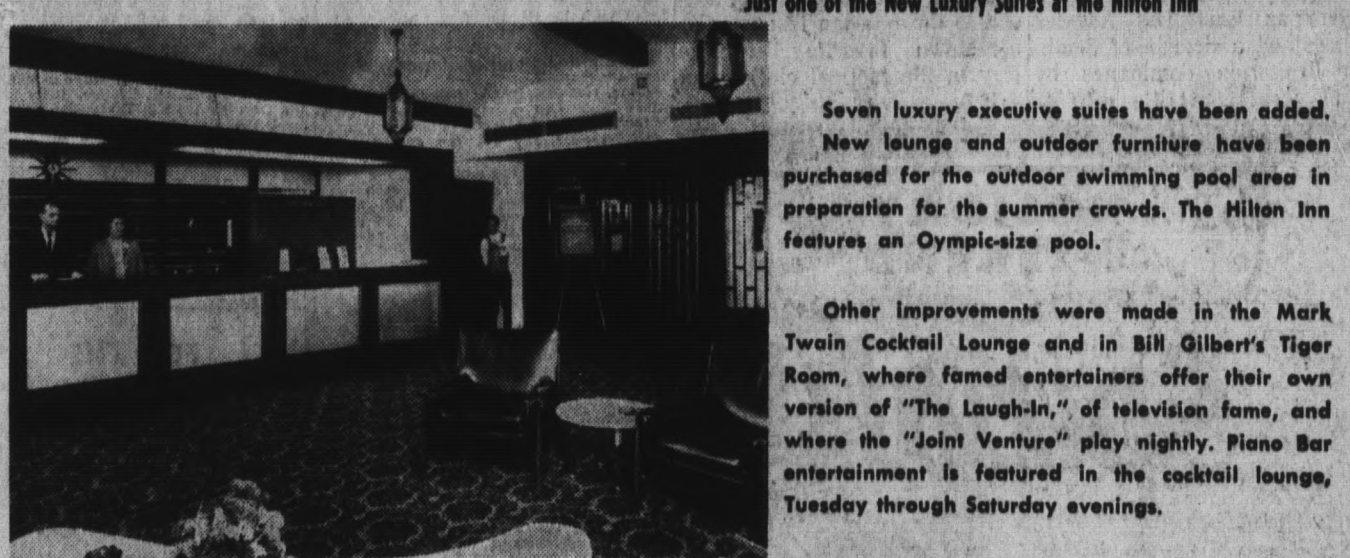

Hilton Inn San Francisco International Airport EXPANDS AGAIN

A $500,000 renovation and redecorating program at the Hilton Inn at San Francisco's International Airport, according to a joint announcement by Henri Lewin, vice president of Hilton Hotels Corporation, and Donald J. Devoto, manager of the Hilton Inn.

More than 300 rooms are included in the program, as well as the many restaurant and special entertainment areas.

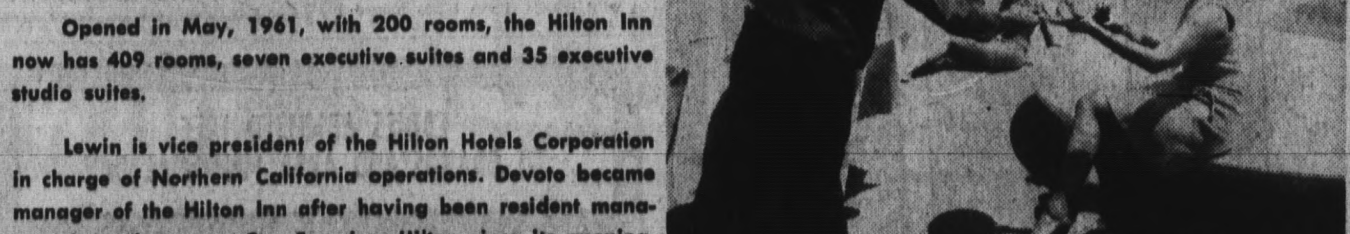

The French Corner restaurant has been completely refurbished and includes a new feature — The Chef's Table — with a strolling violinist providing music for dining. The coffee shop and main ballroom have been completely refurnished and new carpets and decor for the lobby have been installed to present a new look.

Just one of the New Luxury Suites at the Hilton Inn

Seven luxury executive suites have been added. New lounge and outdoor furniture have been purchased for the outdoor swimming pool area in preparation for the summer crowds. The Hilton Inn features an Olympic-size pool.

Other improvements were made in the Mark Twain Cocktail Lounge and in Bill Gilbert's Tiger Room, where famed entertainers offer their own version of "The Laugh-In," of television fame, and where the "Joint Venture" play nightly. Piano Bar entertainment is featured in the cocktail lounge, Tuesday through Saturday evenings.

Hilton Inn's luxurious Olympic-Championship Size pool for Fun 'n Sun

Located directly in front of San Francisco's famed International Airport (100 yards) away, the Hilton Inn is convenient to shopping centers, business, industry and is only 15 minutes (via Bayshore Freeway, U.S. 101) from the heart of San Francisco, with public bus service leaving the airport for the city every 30 minutes.

Falcons Upset MPL Champions

The 1968 Mid Peninsula League baseball race is now just history, but it didn't end without lowly Crestmoor gaining the last laugh.

Coach Steve Gehre's Falcons, stretched in last place in the MPL before Friday's game, rose to surprising heights and knocked off champion Burlingame.

game, 6-0, in the conference finale on the winner's diamond.

In other final MPL action, San Mateo secured itself a second place finish with a nine-inning 7-6 victory over Aragon and arch-rival Mills blanked Capuchino, 2-0.

The Crestmoor-Burlingame tilt was a fun affair, with both coaches substituting freely.

The Falcons took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Jeff Miklos doubled and then scored on Jim Irizarry's double.

The hosts added three more in the bottom of the third when Pat Nuttini, Glenn Grossman and Randy Powell all hit run-scoring singles.

A walk, a hit batter and two errors produced another pair of Falcon tallies in the fourth inning. Dennis Dickey shut down the Panthers on five hits while striking out seven.

Gehre praised the play of Dickey and the defensive prowess of outfielder Ron Landrum.

In San Mateo's victory, Vic Prieto singled home Craig Beller in the bottom of the ninth to break the 6-4 deadlock and give coach Ed Allemand's boys the victory.

The San Mateo team had taken a large 4-0 lead in the first inning, highlighted by Beller's triple, Ron Saito's double and a suicide squeeze bunt by Steve Langridge.

However, the visiting Dons forged ahead, 5-4, in the top of the fifth frame when Aragon parlayed a double, two singles and three walks into five big runs.

But the Bearcats came back with two in the bottom of the sixth to tie it up, 6-6. Steve Bissett, making his first appearance ever on the mound, came on in relief in the fifth inning and was credited with the victory.

Over at Capuchino, Mill's Mark Brosche and Cap's Roger Carmine locked horns in a pitcher's duel with Brosche emerging as the undisputed champion.

Brosche limited the Mustangs to two hits and struckout four, while Carmine gave up six hits and kayoed seven Vike batters. Mills got their first tally in the top of the first inning when, with two outs, Don Minklein singled home Bob Kerrigan.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

DarDany's a Personal Restaurant Creation

BRIGHT LIGHTS is proud to welcome DarDany's in Menlo Park to its roster of distinguished dining houses. A personal creation of E. John Darriman and G. Peter Podany of The Party Givers, DarDany's, located at 1000 Doyle Street, is an elegant restaurant open for both luncheon and dinner. The restaurant's interior, which is tastefully done in shades of blue, reflects charm and comfort. The cuisine (steaks, seafoods, chops, tournedos) will capture the fancy of the most discriminating gourmet. Prices, considering the quality of the food, are most reasonable. With the exception of Sunday and Monday, DarDany's is open for lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.; dinners from 5:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Since the dining area is considered small, but intimate, reservations are almost a must. Fine wine, cocktails and aperitifs are also served in an adjoining lounge.

FOR REMARKABLE FOOD and astounding prices, try dinner at Dewey Wong's Pierre's restaurant in downtown San Mateo. A firm believer in presenting excellent food at a minimum of cost, Dewey serves a broiled 14-ounce New York steak for $2.95, just one example of what to expect when dining here. 14 entrees are listed on his menu, with $2 being the average price asked for a complete dinner. . . . George Bolag, Swiss-born chef at L'Auberge, ranked as one of the Northern California's most authentic French restaurants, can create almost any favorite dish if the ingredients are available. If your mother or aunt cooked a casserole or special wild game, tell George. Chances are he can concoct a culinary dish even better than you remember it.

GARY LONG, "exponent of the keyboard" at Fred and Jerry Rapp's South San Francisco Holiday Inn, studied music at CSM and San Francisco State. Besides recordings, television appearances and night club engagements, Gary has been a much-in-demand accompanist for such top notch artists as Mel Torme, Anita O'Day, Mary Kaye and Jerry Vale. . . . John Tassin, chef at Bruno's in the Mission District for the past 15 years, is off to sunny shores of Italy for a six month, well-deserved rest. John's trademark: Hamburgers on French, knew no equal. He'll be missed by the many thousands who enjoyed watching his exhibition cooking. . . . The luncheon crowd at Oliver's, in South City, must be a seafaring lot—their mid-day relaxers tend to be Salty Dogs. Perhaps it's the method used to blend the grapefruit juice and vodka, but only plankman Bob Robertson knows for sure.

THE GOLDEN STEER restaurant in Redwood City (formerly Charlie Gleason's) is now specializing in complete steak dinners, from Choice Blue Ribbon beef for $2.95. Luncheons are also served; cocktails from 3 p.m. until 7 p.m. are only 50 cents, featuring hot 'n' cold hors d'oeuvres. You'll enjoy meeting the lovely cocktail waitress—Karen Arriola, who was formerly a Bunny girl and now turned cowgirl. Karen, a Trophy Girl for the Indianapolis car races in San Jose and the former Miss Redwood City for Fire Prevention Week, designed her own cowgirl outfit—a mini-skirt of African Buck, with the top made of goat skin. The piano bar comes alive with music from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 a.m., Tuesday through Saturday. Everyone can join in the singing and festivities. Banquet rooms are also available for large or small groups, with the same food and service prevailing. Closed Sundays.

PEGGY SEARLE is the new and attractive gal who entertains nightly at the pianobar of Rudolfo's in Palo Alto. Talented Peggy has an amazing song repertoire, ranging from show tunes and blues, to semi-classics and pops. If you enjoy exercising your larynx on "Oh Danny Boy," her pianobar is the place. The Alhambra brothers, Art, Harry and George, purvey strong and tasty cocktails and broil the hefty steaks. . . . Brothers Joe and Lou Ercoli have been looking over blueprints for the planned expansion of their elegant Leaning Tower restaurant in South San Francisco. Its rumored that after completion, the brothers will open their restaurant for business on Sundays. . . . George Gillen, former Superintendent of the San Francisco Mint and who is now an executive with the Summit Bank, hosted a dinner party in the intimate banquet room at Lew Lehr's in SF's Marina.

THE WONDERFUL WORLD of Greece, Balkan Village style, may soon be seen on the high seas. The other night an executive from the Matson Line visited the Los Altos taverna and was so impressed with the Grecian dancing and entertainment that he asked Louie Gundunas if he could put on a "Greek Night" aboard one of the Matson Liners. Louie is developing his "sea legs." It may be the first time an Hassapiko Greek dance is done to the pitch and roll of a luxury liner enroute to Hawaii. . . . A steak dinner for $4.50 is not really unusual, but it is when you consider that the same price will buy a special steak dinner FOR TWO at San Mateo's Skylark restaurant. This includes an eight ounce New York steak, baked potato or French fries, choice of soup or salad, and beverage. . . . Don Dlanda, proprietor of Doros gourmet restaurant on SF's Montgomery Street, has been elected President of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association.

The House of Heavenly Foods

Joe Bracco and Bill Doyle bill their Southern restaurant in Redwood City as "The House of Heavenly Foods." Southern fried chicken, chicken 'n' dumplings, Louisiana chicken soup, old-fashioned bean soup and the restaurant's famous hot cinnamon rolls and biscuits are all specialties of the house. For before and after-dinner relaxation, Marge Gould is currently appearing in the lounge Wednesday through Sunday nights.

Lee Hardin Assistant Black Angus Wagon Master

Lee Hardin, assistant "Wagon Master" at San Mateo's Black Angus Chuck Wagon, has the handsome looks of a television cowboy star. A valued member of the Black Angus' crew (not Bonanza's), Lee presides over the restaurant's fabulous "All you can eat" luncheon and dinner spreads—and even a "good guy" role of wearing a white hat is not enough to lure him away.

Stickney's Hick'ry House in Redwood City was the first in a chain of Stickney's restaurants and bakeries. Adrian "Red" Stickney, owner of the rapidly-expanding chain, opened the Hick'ry House in July of 1960. Since that time, "Red" has become one of the most prominent restaurateurs in California, with his Stickney's of San Mateo (across from Central Park) being his latest site.

Finocchio's Newcomer Has Big List Of Fans

Stylist Billie DeVoe, a newcomer in Finocchio's show of female impersonators, who already has a big list of fans, sings ballads with a bounce. Billed as the "Male Park Avenue Hillbilly," his biggest number is a parody on "Deep in the Heart of Texas." Other numbers DeVoe handles well are "Life is a Cabaret" and the amusing "Alexis From Texas." He also takes over the emcee chores on Al St. Claire's night off.

Al Williams Back In Business ???

Big Surprise out Pacifica way in the vicinity of Nick Gust's restaurant empire. Your Bright Lighter is as anxious to pass along the news, as you are to hear, what we mean by "Watch for the Moonraker."

Remember, you read it in this column first if it's announced, in the next week, or so, that Al "Papagayo Room" Williams and his parrots will once again greet the dine-out public—and it won't be in San Francisco.

Dave Rasmussen's new catering enterprise is requiring more and more of his time from his Shadows of San Mateo dining room duties. Two weeks ago he spent a Sunday afternoon barbequing with his staff at Woodside's Play Pen. Almost any evening of the week will find members of his crew handling a group affair at San Mateo's Floral and Fiesta Grounds. Catering service for unusually large groups is Dave's specialty.

After 5 p.m. each day, Tad's Steak House in San Carlos offers a gourmet serving of Char-broiled Steak or Prime Rib for $1.69. Billed as an "All you can eat" buffet, patrons pay extra only for their drinks and dessert. Children (10 years or younger) are served a hamburger steak, with parents being charged 10 cents per year of age. Before 5 p.m., Tad's regular menu remains in effect.

If you enjoy discovering new places to dine, then put Belmont Chuck Wagon at the top of your list of "places to go." The Chuck Wagon is now open for lunch as well as dinners. So stop by at noon and enjoy one of chef Ed Zago's superb mid-day offerings, such as Cannelloni a la Napolitana or Veal Scaloppine with fresh mushrooms. The big menu includes a wide variety of luscious salads and sandwiches, as well as hot dishes. Prices are modest.

Fireside Continues To "Blaze Away"

Jack McRae and Phil Maiba, the Firesiders, have another smash entertainment bill at their San Mateo lounge spotlighting Diamond Jim and the Karats; Miss Bonnie Parker; Tamara, "The Bedroom Girl"; the Dance of Love, featuring Roman and Sativa, and Kay Marlow, a very talented vocalist.

The Fireside operation is as changeable as the weather—and this week is no exception. Jack and Phil are now featuring an amateur Topless Contest, which premed Tuesday evening. All girls participating will receive a cash prize of $10 for entering. The winner receives $50 in cash. This is a TUESDAY NIGHT ONLY special. Phil calls special attention to the fact that no "males" are allowed to enter the contest—and that's what the man said.

Helen Hart At Piano-Organ Bar

A veteran Bay Area entertainer, Helen Hart appears Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the comfortable lounge of the New Southern restaurant, South San Francisco. Her unique ability to play almost any request number will amaze you. The restaurant's combination organ-piano bar is itself an unusual attraction.

THE CHARLES R. TAMBINI (Aprille Torres)

Aprille Torres, Charles Tambini Exchange Vows

St. Veronica's Catholic Church in South San Francisco was the setting for the recent marriage of Aprille Marie Torres and Charles R. Tambini. The Rev. Thomas J. Burns officiated at the noon ceremony.

Aprille, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Torres of South San Francisco, wore a gown of satin and lace. Carol J. Conover served as honor attendant for Aprille, and the bridesmaids were Jacqueline Conover, Felicia Léis, and Leona Torres, junior bridesmaid. Theresa Torres was the flower girl, and the attendants all wore floor-length aqua dresses.

Michael L. Tambini was the best man for Charles, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Tambini of South San Francisco. Guests were seated by Eugene F. Torres Jr., Neal A. Torres, Anthony Violanti and Paul Carmona.

The couple received guests at Santa Christo Hall in South San Francisco and then left for an undisclosed honeymoon site. They will live in South San Francisco.

HERALDING THE SAN BRUNO Garden Club's flower show which took place on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the Dollar Savings and Loan Building in San Bruno were (from left) Mrs. Albert Marty, Robert Cross, Mrs. William Knill, Mrs. John Bergman, Harry Davis, Mrs. A. Norman Huff, and Mrs. Ray Kirk. The club has been awarded the Most Outstanding Club award in the Bay Ocean district. Mrs. Knill, president, has announced that the group will be represented in the garden plot section of the San Mateo County Fiesta this year. Mrs. Knill will be head of the project with the help of Mesdames Kirk, Huff, Marty, Charles Kun, and DeWitt Samora. (Post Photo)

Applesauce Correction

Good morning, good cooks. How to correct the errors in last week's applesauce cake? The best way is simply to repeat the recipe. For all you good cooks who called Beverly at THE POST and had her read the correct amounts from my original copy, my thanks. It's nice to know so many of you were interested and eager to try the cake. It is a wonderful cake and I want all you good cooks to have a corrected copy of the recipe.

APPLESAUCE CAKE

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons soda
- 1/2 teaspoon each, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, allspice
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons cocoa
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups unsweetened applesauce
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 1 1/2 cups chopped raisins
- 3/4 cup nuts, chopped

TOPPING

- 1/4 cup nuts, chopped
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
- Sift the two cups flour, one and one-half cups sugar, one and one-half teaspoons soda, one half teaspoon each, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, allspice; one and one-half teaspoons salt and two tablespoons cocoa into a large mixing bowl. Add the one-half cup shortening and the one and one-half cups applesauce. Beat two minutes at medium speed in mixer. Scrape bowl and mixers. Add the two unbeaten eggs and beat two minutes more at medium speed. Next blend in the one and one-half cup raisins and three-fourths cup chopped nuts and mix thoroughly. Pour into a generously greased tube pan. Combine the one-fourth cup chopped nuts and two tablespoons sugar and sprinkle on top. Bake in moderate oven (350-degrees) for one hour and 25 to 35 minutes.

When planning a meal the meat and potatoes part comes easily, as does the salad and dessert but sometimes it seems the vegetables are just the same old thing. This is a case of our accepting our blessings and considering them our dues. The market freezer cases are filled to overflowing with a variety of vegetables year round, that would have staggered the imagination of our great-grandparents. After all their vegetables depended on the climate and seasons. But we look at the variety of frozen vegetables and moan, "Ho hum, same old peas, green beans, lima beans, corn, etc., etc."

Being the loudest moaner in Westlake, I keep on the lookout for some new ways to prepare vegetables and have found some delicious dishes to share with my fellow moaners.

ZUCCHINI-CORN CASSEROLE

- 1 lb. small zucchini
 - 1 med. onion, chopped
 - 1/2 clove garlic minced
 - 2 tablespoons oil
 - 1 can cream-style corn, No. 303 size
 - 2 well-beaten eggs
 - one-third cup grated Cheddar cheese
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- A good pinch of rosemary
- Wash and remove stems from the one pound small zucchini. Slice thin and cook until tender in boiling, salted water. Drain well. Sauté the one chopped onion, half clove garlic, minced; in the two tablespoons oil. Add the sautéed onion and garlic to the drained zucchini. Blend in the one can cream style corn and the two well-beaten eggs. Next add the one-third cup cheese, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and a healthy pinch of rosemary. Mix and pour into well-greased two-quart casserole. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 minutes to one hour, or until firm. Serves six.

A nice way to gussie up green beans is to add mushroom soup or sour cream.

DE-LUXE GREEN BEANS

- 2 pkgs. frozen beans
 - 1 can mushroom soup
 - 1 can French fried onion rings
- Cook the two packages beans, drain well and stir in the one can mushroom soup, pour into greased casserole, top with the one can French fried onion rings. Bake in 350-degree oven for about 20 minutes.
- This dish is ideal for dinner for you can prepare it ahead and pop it in the oven at the last minute.

This next recipe for green beans comes from the wonderful cookbook put out by the Mother's Guild of St. Raphael's School in San Rafael, California.

GREEN BEANS SUPREME

- one-third cup minced onion
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 cup dairy sour cream
 - 2 cups French style green beans, cooked (canned or frozen)
 - 1/2 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
- Simmer the one-third cup minced onion in the two tablespoons butter. Add the two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper and mix well. Add the one cup sour cream and heat through. Blend with the 2 cups cooked beans and pour into shallow baking dish. Top with grated cheese and bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Serves four.

Serra Route Bids Granted

SACRAMENTO — A low bid of $7.2 million was received by the Department of Public Works Friday for construction of the Junipero Serra Freeway from San Bruno to South San Francisco.

The award of bid was to L. C. Smith Company of San Mateo with an offer of $7,269,152. After checking to make certain that the offer meets all specifications set by the Department, a contract will be offered the low bidder according to State Director of Public Works, Samule B. Nelson.

The project calls for grading and paving 2.3 miles of Junipero Serra from just south of San Bruno Avenue to slightly south of Arroyo Drive in South San Francisco.

Interchanges will be built at San Bruno Avenue, the future Route 186 Freeway, Sneath Lane and at Avalon Drive.

Also included is grading work for the future 186 Freeway routing between the Junipero Serra Freeway and El Camino Real in San Bruno.

The contracts call for completion of construction within 560 working days

WINNER — Coach Bob Lualhati looks over Donna Mason's award-winning Rampage story about him. Donna captured a San Francisco Press Club Junior Scholarship in news writing.

Westmoor Girl's Story Wins Prize

A girl writing a news story about a Westmoor track coach's decision and comparing it to the conflict at U. C. Berkeley between the basketball coach and the players received one of the San Francisco Press Club Junior Scholarships in news writing.

Westmoor senior Donna Mason's award-winning story "Track Coach Upholds Rules, Quells Dispute" appeared in a recent issue of the school newspaper The Rampage.

After alluding to the "shades of disagreement between Berkeley Coach Rene Herreras and his team," she commented upon Coach Bob Lualhati's decision "to cut a sprinter from the team because of the runner's hesitation to part with his beard."

Explaining Coach Lualhati's handling of the problem, Donna pointed out that there was no team rebellion and unlike the U. C. coach whose decision was reversed, Coach Lualhati "saw no reason whatever for a review of his decision on a simple disciplinary measure."

Donna has served as the co-editor-in-chief of Westmoor's newspaper for 1967-68. Last year she was press bureau editor which included handling the news stories emanating from Westmoor High School. She hopes to continue her Journalism, English interest of the University of Pacific next fall.

The daughter of Captain and Mrs. Anderson Mason, 327 St. Francis Blvd., Daly City, Donna has also been active in speech contest work and last year won second place honors in original oratory. She has served on the student council and has been a member of California Scholarship Federation.

Competing with 327 Northern California high school journalists, Donna's award was presented to her at the annual San Francisco Press Club Award luncheon on Saturday, May 18.

Attending the luncheon with Donna were Mrs. Doris Lindfors, the Rampage adviser, and student journalists Kathy Knowlton, Trudy Erickson, and Gary Soules.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By DONALD C. WAITE

Everyone has a favorite color or colors — just as most of us have certain colors which we do not like. This is reflected in the clothes you wear and is even of greater importance in furnishing your home. If your favorite color is green, you have selected an almost perfect color to enhance any other you may wish to use. Just as nature uses vast expanses of green to show off the myriad tones of blossoms, so you can use green to complement or contrast with many other colors.

The warm tones of melon — that between orange and red color — are often preferred by outgoing people. These are the exciting colors of sun and fire and must be used with restraint. If your room is dark you can afford to be a little more bold with melon. If your room is light and bright, you might want to use some brown tones which are favorites of many people because there is a comfortable, earthy, "hominess" about them.

Pink is a delicate, soft and feminine color and because it is essentially a pastel, pink should be used with another strong color, to point it up, to bring out its pleasant tone.

But whatever your favorite color is, we can help you find it at our store and we will try to make it your favorite place to shop.

Look at Map, Then Go With Money

Two men took an undetermined amount of cash from the M&H Standard Station in San Bruno Sunday while the attendant waited on a customer at the pumps.

San Bruno police said two men drove into the station at San Mateo and San Bruno avenues at 1:55 p.m. and purchased "a couple dollars" of gasoline. They then went into the office. They purportedly were looking at a map, when the attendant, David T. Stoval, 17, of Pacifica, went outside to wait on a customer in the pump area.

When Stoval returned to the office, the suspects were gone, and the attendant told police, as was all the paper money from the cash box.

The suspects were described as 25 to 30 years old; one standing 5-9, and weighing 150 pounds; the other 5-7, weighing 160 pounds.

JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL majorettes (top photo) and Westmoor rally girls (lower picture) led their Daly City bands in Saturday's youth parade in Millbrae, under sponsorship of the Millbrae Lions Club.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS ...

By Alice Reichert

There will be no Teen Co-Rec at Terra Nova, on May 30 because of the holiday. Teen Co-Rec will resume on June 20.

Any group in the area wanting to be heard by a large group of teens, as well as getting free practice time in an excellent facility, may sign up with Dave Barry at Oddstad Park well in advance of the practice date.

The practices are from 7 to 9 p.m. every Wednesday at Ocean Gym and Thursday nights at Terra Nova Gym.

The Recent J-Teens' dance, sponsored by the Pacifica Park Beach and Recreation Department, at San Andreas School, was termed "very successful." Music was provided by "Artistic Brew." Highlight of the evening was a dance contest, with Brad Wells and Sandy Wells.

New Student Insurance Plan at Jeff

A new student accident insurance package approved by Jefferson Elementary School District trustees Tuesday includes both a premium increase and an increase in coverage.

The new program, with North American Life and Casualty Co., calls for a premium rate of $2.50 per student, an increase of 50 cents per subscriber over this year's rate.

However, the new program provides increased coverage for students going to and from their homes, and increases the maximum payment for injuries from $5,000 to $10,000.

D.C. Bands In Milbrae Lions Parade

The Lion's Club of Millbrae invited some of the high school bands from the surrounding area to participate in their youth parade Saturday, among which were Jeff and Westmoor. Jeff's Band, under the direction of Richard Larsen, performed Souza marches, and had Sharon Anderson as Drum Major.

Westmoor's Band, featuring "Hey, Look Me Over" and the theme from "Bridge on the River Kwai," were preceded by Westmoor's rally girls, carrying a Westmoor sign and performing dance routines. The drum major was Collins Orin, and the majorettes, Nancy Rain, Pat Donati, and Lori Cooper. Howard Loeffler is the music director.

Parents from the Westmoor Music Booster's Club helped along the parade route.

4 Eagle Scouts Win Honors in Daly City

Scouting's highest honor was conferred on four young men this month at a National Court of Honor, convened by San Mateo Council executives. Troop 129 and Explorer Post 129 jointly honored Mike Brandt, Marty Cloonan, Tim Pappas, and Dan Proctor, as each was awarded the rank of Eagle Scout. More than 200 Scouts and guests attended the dinner in the Ben Franklin School as Ray Stahl, assistant district commissioner, and Program Director Bob Hatton presented the awards.

All four boys have come up through the Scouting program in Troop 129 and are now active members of Explorer Post 129, with plans to continue in Scouting.

Marty Cloonan and Tim Pappas came into Cub Scouts together ten years ago, and will enter CSM following their graduation from Westmoor High this June. Each has carried a full schedule of outside activities and has earned a Block W award. Marty is a member of the Order of the Arrow and also works as a Red Cross swim instructor. Tim has been a leader in the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church Youth Group and plays guitar in a busy combo, "The Garden Variety."

Dan Proctor and Mike Brandt are freshmen at Westmoor High, and count seven years each for Scouting. The two boys came into Troop 129 together, are both members of the Order of the Arrow, and have now moved into the Post. Other interests for Dan include membership in the White Stag program and in Westmoor High's Block W society. Mike plays drums in the Westmoor Marching and Concert Band, and wears a music block W, awarded for his activities with this group.

To commemorate this occasion, the Troop and Post Committees have traditionally presented each Scout who attains Eagle rank with a beautifully engraved plaque. The honor of the presentation of this plaque goes to the man chosen by each boy as the one most instrumental in helping him achieve this rank. District Program Director Bob Hatton was pleased to award this plaque to Marty Cloonan, and former Scoutmaster Bill Cloonan was honored to award Mike Brandt's plaque. Post Advisor George Brandt was selected by Dan Proctor and Tim Pappas to present their plaques, and former Scoutmaster Don Imperatrice was brought forward for additional praise and appreciation by the four boys.

The Post Mothers' Club gave each boy a black felt pennant, covered with the awards and merit badges of each individual boy, as a further memento.

Route 186 Junction Proposals

Pacifican councilmen reopened a problem which has plagued the city for most of a decade last week, with a decision to again consider changing the route of the proposed 186 Freeway between the Coastside and San Bruno.

With actual construction already years away, the decision to consider another route, and likely hold further public hearings, could delay the project as much as an additional two years.

At a meeting last week, Division of Highways representatives informed city officials the time is at hand when they must either "accept or reject" the proposed "I" route from the ridge between San Bruno and Pacifica, in order to expedite budgetary planning.

This route, approved by the Division of Highways and tentatively accepted by the council in 1962, calls for a more or less direct descent from the ridge to a complex interchange system with Route 1 near Vallemar.

The chief objections now being voiced against the proposal involve the interchange. Officials of Ideal Basic Industries, Inc., owners of a choice piece of real estate now known as Rockaway Quarry, are opposed to the "I" line because it would route an arm of the freeway interchange through their property.

The route would also necessitate removal of 14 houses from the Fairway Park area, and would place an unsightly overpass 120 feet above Route 1.

Gilbert Rodil, of the Ideal Corp., and others are proposing one of two other alternate routes discussed in the past.

This route is known as the "K" line, and follows the same general path from the ridge to the existing Highway 1, but does not call for an overhead interchange system.

However, there are a number of objections to the "K" line, and it is almost certain to be opposed by the City of San Francisco.

The route calls for a wide swing through property owned by the City of San Francisco, and presently utilized as an archery range.

It would also cut through the Sharp Park golf course property.

There are also problems with grading, and the "K" line would necessitate the slicing away of part of a scenic canyon along the route of descent.

The "K" route is considered generally more destructive by some, because it would require a steeper grade.

At Wednesday's meeting, Charles Trifeletti, head of the Chamber of Commerce 106 Committee and a leader in efforts to obtain early completion of the freeway, urged councilmen to take the "K" proposal to the Division of Highways immediately, and determine whether or not it is acceptable.

"If the alternate is acceptable to the engineers, and the city decides it is more desirable, we will have to petition the Highway Commission to reopen public hearings and go through the entire process again," Trifeletti said.

Councilman Rick Wallis said the problem now "appears to be one of selling this alternative, rather than exploring it further."

"But, in what was possibly a preview of things to come, Councilwoman Grace McCarthy said, 'you will first have to sell me.'"

"I am very disturbed about

Pacifica Quarry Bid Over-ruled

A planning commission decision to grant a quarrying permit for operations at a site in a residential district was over-ruled last week by the Pacifica council.

Councilmen upheld the appeal of Max Link Jr., to deny a permit for continued quarrying operations at a site behind the 400 block of Esplanade Avenue in the Pacifica Manor District.

Planning commissioners voted April 16 to allow contractor John J. Finetti to continue quarrying and hauling sand from the location, even though an apartment building is situated directly across the street from the site.

Planner Lawrence McLaughlin told councilmen the city has had a problem with sand blowing from the quarry site, and commissioners felt granting the permit for further sand removal would alleviate the problem "and save the city money."

A permit issued last year allowed Finetti to quarry to a depth of one foot. This permit was primarily intended to allow preparation of the site for development, according to council members, and not for extensive quarrying operations.

The permit approved by planning commissioners would have allowed quarrying to a depth of 20 feet below sidewalk level, and the removal of 100,000 square yards of sand.

"I certainly would not want to live across the street from such an operation," Mayor Nick Gust said, "and if we allow it to go on, there will be plenty of complaints."

Councilman Rick Wallis said it was necessary to reverse the planning commission decision and deny the permit "in order to uphold the zoning rights of Mr. Link and other neighborhood residents."

Councilmen voted unanimously to uphold the appeal.

In another planning matter, the council upheld a commission decision denying a rezoning request to allow construction of an apartment building in an "R-1" single-family residential district.

S. E. Stewart sought the zoning change in order to construct an apartment building at the corner of Bedford Way and Mori's Point Road.

In his presentation to council, Stewart said "the value of the property is such to preclude the possibility of building single-family dwellings."

He also maintained there is a "definite need" for more apartments in the city.

Councilmen, in denying the zoning change, noted the applicant had presented no building plans, and also pointed out the city's general plan study is currently in progress, and "it is the wrong time to be altering zones."

DeBernardi Enters Assembly Race

Michael DeBernardi, Republican, can write-in candidate in the Twenty-seventh Assembly District, put his money on the line last week.

He was the first to file under that no write-in votes will be counted unless the candidate has filed an official declaration and paid a filing fee.

In DeBernardi's case, the fee was $160, which was paid to County Clerk John A. Bruning this morning.

DeBernardi, who has served as a Daly City councilman for

COST DOWN
The cost of shipping by rail has declined 14 per cent in the last eight years while the country's cost of living rose 15 per cent, according to the Railway Progress Institute.

14 years, is attempting to qualify for the November general election ballot as an opponent to the Democratic incumbent, Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan. He needs 884 write-in votes to qualify.

As he filed today DeBernardi was accompanied by James V. Greulich, Daly City business executive, who is serving as his campaign manager.

Pacifica Looks at Water Service

Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust and members of the council notified the North Coast County Water District last week that the city is "investigating the feasibility" of taking over water service within the municipality.

Councilmen voted unanimously last month to act upon Gust's suggestion to consider acquiring the water system as a means of obtaining additional revenues

"and possibly improving service," and City Attorney John Sherman was instructed to investigate the legal aspects of such a move.

STARLINGS

At dusk great flocks of starlings roost on federal buildings in Washington, where fancy ornamentations and classic columns make perfect perches.

Sherman presented his report at Wednesday's council meeting.

Among other procedures, the city must put the matter to a referendum before acquiring the water service, he said.

Gust said an intensive study of financial factors and other aspects of the proposal will be undertaken before the city proceeds further.

THE JEFFERSON SCENE...

By Wendy Woolery

Jefferson High School's student body has selected its student body officers, pep girls, mascot and cheerleaders.

The student body president will be Charlie Jolivet; vice-president, Joyce Chan; treasurer, Donna Sena. All are seniors.

Commissioner of Pow-Wows (rallies) is Cathy Weiler; publicity, Selma Villareal; clubs, Barbara Thompson; entertainment, Yvonne Dunkley, all of the senior class of '69.

Junior varsity cheerleaders for next year are juniors Debbie Brusa, Paula Parker, and head Emily Montalvo.

The mascot, a senior, is Jasmin Flores.

The pep girls are junior Madlyn Norman and seniors Pat Pongaroli, Pam Johnson, Monica Limon, and head Chris Tabucchi.

The majorettes, chosen by the teachers on ability, poise, and appearance, include junior Terry Rhine, and seniors Debbie Lee, Chris Oswald, Vicki Risso, Wendy Woolery and Laurie Anderson.

All of these girls were presented their "equipment" (bats, pompons, megaphones) at the spring awards assembly on May 23.

Also at this assembly, awards were given to seniors who had received grants for their scholastic ability, showed exceptional ability in certain subjects at school, or who helped voluntarily in some aspect of the campus life.

Awards were given to outstanding choir members, dramatists, art students, athletes, scientists, and the custodial staff.

This was the last rally of the year, and the last high school rally for the seniors.

THE SCHOOL YEAR is coming to a close for many — for others it is opening.

It is a beginning for the 10 teachers from Jefferson who will be going to Serramonte in the fall.

The students are losing many friends, but the junior class will suffer a big loss, because its advisor is leaving. He is Mike Tugendreich, and he has been invaluable to the success of the class of '69.

Each freshman class has had difficulties getting started, but with Tugendreich leading them, they started out by making more money than any class that year. They took in over $100 at their dance, and their candy sale was a complete sell-out.

As sophomores they had the first Homecoming Queen of Jefferson crowned at their dance.

Another candy sale was another success, and expectations were building for the Junior Prom.

As juniors, they carried off another candy sale, a Christmas dance, and a junior prom.

Now as the end of the year approaches, plans are forming for the senior ball, senior activities, and money-making projects.

Tugendreich will be head of the social science department at Serramonte. Among others leaving are Cliff Braun, the new head of the science department at Serramonte, and Bobby Briggs, who will direct the business department.

THE SPANISH DEPARTMENT recently sponsored an unprecedented Spanish fiesta — "Fiesta Hispanoamericana!" It was organized by Caesar Romero, a student teacher under Lionel Cleary.

Featured was a professional mariachi band — providing authentic music for the enjoyment of those in attendance. Mexican food was donated by various people — tamales, tacos and pastry. Folk dances from the South American countries were presented by young children. A religious procession honoring the Virgin of Guadalupe, was featured along with much singing and dancing.

"MAY I HAVE THE ENVELOPE, PLEASE?" These words, familiar to those who watch Academy and Emmy Awards, were uttered May 23 at the first annual drama awards banquet in the cafeteria. Featured speakers included Enid Kent of ACT, Michael Weiland of the professional theater.

A chicken dinner was served and a film was made by Jefferson students for the fall production of "IT: Explorations in Awareness," was shown.

YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE at SAFEWAY DRUG CENTER!

Arthur C. Clarke, a most-learned man and author of 40 books, suggested a title of a future work might be "How I Lost a Billion Dollars in My Spare Time."

That may be a conservative estimate of what he forfeited by not patenting an idea he had in 1945 of developing a communications satellite. The authorities were interested in his published paper (the original is now in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.) but felt, even as Clarke did, that its realization wouldn't be during our lifetime. Within ten years the Vanguard satellite was built and his theories later became Early Bird satellite.

Clarke is a man of many talents: Fiction writer, "2001: Space Odyssey" film script and novel and "Childhood's End" novel and future film script brought us together. He is also past chairman of the British Interplanetary Society, a member of the Academy of Astronautics, the Royal Astronomical Society, to name only a few of his affiliations. He's also a regular contributor to Playboy magazine, Holiday, Reader's Digest, Horizon, and N.Y. Times Magazine, and every scientific journal published.

For the past 15 years his hobby has been underwater exploration along the Great Barrier Reef of Australia and off the coast of Ceylon where he has resided since 1956. He's also one of the most charming, interesting, and erudite men with a keen sense of humor I've ever met.

He worked closely with director Stanley Kubrick on the four-year film project, "2001: Space Odyssey," which will open in San Francisco on June 19 at the Golden Gate Theatre with a premiere night benefit for the S.F. Press Club's Scholarship Awards Fund.

"THE POPULAR LITERARY IMAGE OF SCIENCE FICTION is bug-eyed monsters created by those who lack scientific knowledge and have a fear of the unknown. Some people hate our film because they recognize it's about reality and they can't cope with the idea that they'll probably be dead by the time it all comes true."

"The movie may both enlighten people about the space age and increase their fear. My fear is that it won't be as beautiful as Kubrick sees it. At least it will put an end to the myth of a backyard space ship constructed by a handyman and a mad scientist with a beautiful blonde daughter."

Clarke speaks with disarming conviction about the future, making such candid and dire predictions as a massive earthquake in San Francisco within the next 30 years of 8 or 9 magnitude. He referred to the 1906 earthquake as "minor" by comparison. This possibility has been of great concern to other experts and is being talked about more and more.

"I have every intention of reaching the moon myself although I might be 70 or 80 years old. The Air Force is flying to Ceylon to pick me up next month and transport me to San Antonio, Texas, where I'll be a speaker at the fourth International Symposium on Bioastronautics and the Exploration of Space. I'll make plans there to get into space."

HE CONTENDS THAT MANY OF TODAY'S PROBLEMS, smog control, traffic congestion, air pollution, weather forecasting can be solved by reconnaissance by a whole range of satellites.

"So you see, all the money we spend in the race to the moon will someday come back to us. It's already established that the population problem in India can be solved by rapid education through satellite control. I further predict that there will be colonies on the moon. It's a proven fact that man can survive a few seconds in outer space without a space suit. And, after all, if you can live in Manhattan, you can live anywhere."

"The most important social role of science fiction is to maintain flexibility of mind, accept the future without panic and prepare people to think of novel solutions to problems of today. A knowledge of science fiction should be mandatory for all politicians," he concluded.

Juan Serrano, young and sensitive Spaniard, with fingers of fire that intoxicate audiences with his guitar playing, is unquestionably the successor to Andres Segovia. He'll play a single concert Saturday, June 8 at the San Mateo High School auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

All the passion and sorrows of the Spanish soul is reflected in his playing. Flamenco music becomes an international language at the dexterously nimble fingers of the 30-year-old musician. Those who can't get tickets to his concerts have been grabbing up his 14 American produced recordings on RCA and Electra.

Serrano speaks English only slightly and best communicates through an interpreter. We broke into his six hour a day practice schedule to discuss the powerful and soul stirring music that has brought him international acclaim.

"My idol was my father, the famous artist Antonio El Del Lunar. He taught me all the traditional music of the South of Spain. Flamenco was my favorite because it came from my heart. The classical music I learned mechanically," the dark haired artist explained.

Serrano comes from Cordoba, a beautiful and dreamy Andalusian city. Seneca, the Spanish philosopher, public speaker and author and Manolete, the most famous of all Spanish matadors, came from there also.

THE GENTLENESS OF SERRANO'S PERSONALITY and the beauty of his imagery on such standards as "Autumn Leaves" is only seconded by the pulsating rhythms of his own compositions. While Flamenco music is traditional, there are myriad variations and opportunity for improvisation. Serrano brings all his genius into force when he takes off on known themes, adding his inimitable creativity to its intricate harmonic patterns.

"The technique of old time Flamenco guitarists is very simple. They only use three fingers. Ramon Montoya introduced this music to America but the public's taste has improved since then. They know Spanish music and aren't satisfied with the old style playing."

"Now, even in Spain audiences accept the new form because the old style was monotonous. I keep close to the traditional but infuse more beauty into the music."

IN SPAIN THE FLAMENCO MUSIC WAS NEVER PLAYED in concert. It was the music of the people and played only for background to dancing. Serrano's concerts, usually performed outdoors as he did two weeks ago at Old Town in Los Gatos, draws thousands of people, all eager to hear the hauntingly beautiful music that one of their own has raised to new heights on the international scene.

Serrano has written a new chapter to Hispanic history by his concerts at Town Hall and on the West Coast. Following his San Mateo concert June 8, he'll leave for a South American, Orient, European tour.

"Fame in America doesn't mean anything when you play flamenco in other country. In Spain one must show himself worthy. They don't recognize you as a star, only by your playing. Flamenco hasn't gone out of style in Spain because it represents folk music and is a strong part of the culture. The young people have gone modern but when they hear Flamenco, their hearts and ears respond."

A Loss to County

The San Mateo Peninsula is losing a civic leader and educator of exceptional vigor and attainments with the imminent departure of Dr. Julio L. Bortolazzo from the presidency of the College of San Mateo.

After achieving a most remarkable record in bringing this San Mateo County educational center to the forefront among all the junior colleges of the nation, Dr. Bortolazzo is leaving to become superintendent of the San Joaquin Delta Junior College District headquartered in Stockton and will serve as president of the Delta College.

The development of the College of San Mateo under his leadership is indelibly stamped with the outstanding character of his imagination, personality, knowledge and courageous drive.

The college district had been floundering aimlessly before he arrived on the scene and developed a formula and recommendations that led a citizen's committee successfully in creating and implementing a bold and effective new program. This, in turn, led to the reality of the nationally acclaimed local college and will lead to its new satellite colleges.

The Post had occasional differences of viewpoint with Dr. Bortolazzo, but these have become resolved and merged in the greater achievement he brought to the college as a whole. The Post takes this occasion to congratulate him and to express its belief that he will bring to Delta College the same inspirational accomplishment he brought here. We will long be grateful to him.

D. C. Readers 'Shocked'

At least four Daly City residents have written to the editors of the Ladies' Home Journal to protest the inclusion of a condensed version of Evan Hunter's "Last Summer."

"Last Summer" tells of teen-agers from affluent homes. They are clean and charming. Yet full of dark moods that burst into ugly incidents.

Left to amuse themselves, Peter and David and Sandy, her hair is the color of the golden sand dunes, drift from altruism to cruelty as the occasion calls.

One incident finds them saving the life of an injured sea gull only to snuff it out when the gull is ready for freedom.

Another finds them befriending Rhoda, a frightened girl, but later they are driven by something harsh that rises inside them, to disrobe her and leave her more frightened than ever.

While the summer is a time for happiness for the three main characters, it is also a time for discovering the depths of evil and violence in themselves.

"Last Summer" poses many questions: are the children of today's social set like this — happy at one moment; moody at another? Are they both kind and cruel?

Are they potential monsters created by a shallow social system: victims of divorce, unbridled ambitions, alcohol, phony morality, ineffective discipline?

Are they mirrors of urbane and impious parents in a decaying society?

"Last Summer" has been called a symbolical novel, perceptive and poetical in spite of the frightening scenes and risqué language.

Of it the Ladies' Home Journal writes, "It is only fair to warn that this is a shocking novel." It surely is. If you can't handle it, leave it alone.

Evan Hunter is the legal name, but not the name he was born with, of a writer who uses several pseudonyms.

Writing shockers seems to be an avocation with him. In 1954 he published the "Blackboard Jungle" which tells about a young teacher who struggles with a student body of juvenile delinquents in a New York City School. Although it became a best seller and a popular film, it was denounced by many critics.

Even the United States Ambassador to Italy, Clare Booth Luce, refused to appear at a showing of the picture at the 1955 Venice Film Festival.

One of Hunter's works — The Birds — was produced by Alfred Hitchcock. It was called superb but horrifying.

His novel, "Second Ending" is an exploration of drug addicts. Like "Last Summer" it is a shocking story, but filled with truths about a 20th century tragedy.

Under the name of Ed McBain, Evan Hunter has written suspense stories that won for him a Mystery Writers of America Award.

A writer in the New York Herald Tribune wrote — "Evan Hunter has a superb ear for conversation with competence as a story teller, and with a tolerant and tough-minded sympathy for his subjects."

European Car Purchase

QUESTION: I am planning to buy a car while in Europe this summer. What special requirements should I look for?

ANSWER: All foreign cars must pass the American safety requirements of January 1, 1968. The necessary items are: anti-smog devices, collapsible steering column, dual braking system, seat belts for all seats, recessed knobs on dash, door padding, a specified number of lamps and reflectors. Also some uniform standard for such things as gear shifts are required.

QUESTION: I was told by a manufacturer that his product is the winner of a Triple A rating with the BBB. I thought you did not issue ratings or endorsements of any kind.

ANSWER: You are right. The BBB does not issue ratings or endorsements nor does it issue its name to promotions of any kind. But our members are fully aware of the fact that the function of the Bureau is factual reporting which is a service to both the businessman and his customer. When a firm has established a record of good customer relations, we gladly pass this information on to inquirers for their guidance.

QUESTION: I was told by a photographer that he had a request for my picture in a trade journal. I had the picture taken but have never received the promised copy of the trade journal containing my picture. The photographer made repeated attempts to sell me more pictures at exorbitant prices before moving out of town.

ANSWER: You evidently were taken as the only purpose behind the photographer's contact with you seems to have been to sell his pictures.

QUESTION: We took our furniture out of local storage and found many items missing and a number of items damaged although they were packed by a professional mover back east. We have been trying to get this claim settled without success for nearly a year now.

ANSWER: Are you sure you had a bona fide professional mover? Unless you are sure of a mover, it is always a good idea to call the BBB and check his record. Most movers in our area are reputable businessmen and know a satisfied customer is the best form of advertising.

However, it is your responsibility to determine in advance that you have proper insurance coverage should there be breakage, etc. You may have the sad experience that the carrier's liability is limited and inadequate. Unfortunately, it is not always understood by the customer that just because the mover is himself insured, this does not mean that the customer is fully protected.

DEAF EAR DEPARTMENT — Daly City Fathers turning a deaf ear on complaints stemming from use of "official" city cars. Seems one user in the Engineering Division motors back and forth to work in one of the cars because he is "on call." The newcomer to the City Family lives in Palo Alto.

THOSE RUMORS that the City of Daly City has frozen out a local business because one of the employees campaigned against the council in the recent (April) muni elections ain't so, according to City Hall. The rumbles started when a letter went out from the Finance Department regarding a purchase order which combined some lumber and some plumbing items. According to the Keeper of the City Funds this is a No No! For example: lumber is bought from one standing source and plumbing from another standing source. Anyway, that's what assistant city manager Dave Rowe explains. Further note: The city is continuing to do business with the company.

FILE AND FORGET — Daly City has 12 Walkers; one Running and no Stagers. But the county's Northern Neighbor has two Stagers. We gain this knowledge from our reliable tele-director.

GENE PERRY, Advertising Director for Westlake Shopping Center, tells that the "Big Beef" as staged last Sunday between the Oakland A's and Detroit at The Coliseum was the donnybrook of all time. Gene's seen a lot of 'em, having covered the old Pacific Coast League for The Post-Enquirer — when that paper was publishing years back.

FLASHY FLASH — Just heard that Herbert Rhodes, a job specialist for the County Human Resources Commission, has quit — effective June 1.

40 BASKETS SENT

Fruits for Peace

Forty baskets filled with California's choice fresh fruits were en route to the Paris peace conference as an international gesture of good will from the state's produce industry.

According to Joseph Carcione, president of Best Fruit and Produce Company in South San Francisco and originator of the produce "airlift," the fruit baskets are intended for all participants in the Vietnamese talks.

"The two sides in this conference should find at least one area of mutual agreement, and those of us in the produce industry believe that universally popular fresh fruit will speak a common language that everyone can appreciate," he said.

The baskets were prepared with fresh samples contributed by members of the Council of California Growers. They are being flown to Paris by Air France, and will be presented to the United States, North Vietnamese and South Vietnamese delegations immediately upon arrival.

Carcione is a veteran produce executive and a good will ambassador in his own right as "The Man on the Produce Market," a public service show on KCBS Radio in San Francisco. He began planning the gift basket idea when the Paris peace talks were announced.

"A gift of fresh fruit is particularly appropriate because it represents a common wish for good health and prosperity throughout the world," Carcione said.

With the co-operation of Donald Rockwell of the Council of California Growers, Carcione has organized public support for the program during the last two weeks.

In recognition of this unique effort, State Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan last Tuesday introduced a resolution in the state legislature, commending the project as not only a gesture of international friendship but as worthy recognition of California's important position as one of the world's major agricultural areas.

Carcione was impressed with the widespread enthusiasm for gifts of fresh fruit following a recent public "open house" at the Best wholesale offices in the Golden Gate Produce Terminal in South San Francisco. Nearly 700 men, women and children arrived at 5 a.m. to view the multi-million dollar produce operations. Carcione gave each guest a basket of choice fruits and vegetables.

"I haven't stopped receiving thank-you letters from grateful visitors," Carcione said. "They actually seem happier than if I had given them a $10 bill instead."

"If such a simple gift could generate so much enthusiasm, I decided that a similar gesture might be welcome at the Paris conference. After all, if the delegates tried the simple device of sharing a fresh fruit basket, they might find an easier way to settle more complex problems."

Carcione informally mentioned the idea on his radio program and was surprised to receive immediate favorable reaction from several organizations. In addition to endorsement by the Council of California Growers and several major suppliers, Air France also came forward to provide jet transportation.

Meanwhile, United States Congressman Paul N. McCloskey Jr. offered to work with Washington officials to determine steps that should be taken to expedite the shipment.

Required inspection of the fruit was handled by a Federal Agriculture agent at the Golden Gate Produce Terminal while the merchandise was being assembled and wrapped.

As the fruit basket program became a reality, Peter Carcione, head of Best's packaging division, spent several days investigating suitable baskets, overwrapping material and size considerations. Six large baskets were finally selected for the two major representatives from each of the three countries involved. Each of the delegations will also receive twelve other baskets for distribution to members of their respective staffs.

"This gesture may not solve any major conflicts," Carcione said, "but, honestly, how can people get mad at each other when they're enjoying fresh sliced California peaches?"

Bruno Girl Held After 'Pot' Found

Linda Ruth Scally, 20, 244-B West Angus Avenue, San Bruno, was arrested last week by Burlingame police on a charge of possessing marijuana.

Police said bail had been set at $1,250 because evidence against her included 10 plastic bags which contained a total of 247.9 grams of marijuana.

The arrest was made after a citizen phoned police that a sale of marijuana was taking place from a car parked next to Washington Park, near Burlingame High School.

On the scene, officers said they found a pregnant young woman, who refused them permission to search her car.

When taken into custody for questioning, however, she suddenly broke away and ran through the park.

Unable to catch her, officers said they searched the car, found ten bags of marijuana, and traced the car to the San Bruno address.

Trio Robs Bruno Store

Two men last week robbed the Huntington Market in San Bruno as a third suspect waited outside in a car with its motor running.

Myron Spear, owner of the neighborhood store at 875 Huntington Avenue, told police that at 12:30 p.m. two men walked into his market. One pointed a revolver at him.

"This is a stickup," the robber said, demanding Spear's cash.

They got away with $70.

Witnesses obtained a car license number and the car used by the trio in the hold-up was found later, abandoned in San Francisco. It had been reported stolen out of Daly City earlier.

The storekeeper was not harmed.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

Brush After Meals

Brushing after meals not only helps to remove food particles from which decay acids are formed, but also helps to remove the bacteria that are responsible for producing the acid. So get in the habit of brushing after every meal.

Brush Thoroughly

Even if you brush after every meal, success in preventing decay won't be achieved unless you brush thoroughly. Use a good toothbrush that is in good condition.

Please ask your dentist about proper brushing of teeth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth, as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

An Inventive Idea For Stuffing Fish

Whether that great big fish is the result of your husband's yen for fishing or comes from the market, do stuff and bake it. You'll never regret this decision. Use the following recipe.

This way of stuffing fish is so delicious we wish we had originated it. But in all honesty, and although this rule is presented here for the first time, we can't stake it out as our own development. That claim belongs to a friend of ours who's both inventive and a marvelous cook.

The stuffing features crabmeat plus liquid gravy seasoning and browning sauce. Both give fine flavor to it.

While the fish is in the oven, bake some potatoes. Then serve sweet green asparagus as the vegetable. Follow with a compote of fresh fruit and some really delicious cookies and your family and guests will bless you.

BAKED FISH WITH CRAB STUFFING
5-pound fish, split and prepared for stuffing
2 eggs
1 can (6½ ounces) crabmeat, drained and flaked and any tendons removed ½ cup diced celery
½ cup minced parsley

1 small white onion, minced
2 teaspoons liquid gravy seasoning and browning sauce
3 tablespoons butter, melted
1½ cups fine soft white bread crumbs
Salt and pepper to taste
Grease a large shallow baking-and-serving dish or use a shallow roasting pan (17 by 11½ inches) and line it with greased foil. Wash fish and wipe dry; place it in the pan.
In a medium mixing bowl, beat the eggs just enough to combine yolks and whites; add the remaining ingredients; with a fork, mix lightly but thoroughly. If stuffing seems dry, sprinkle with 1 or 2 tablespoons hot water and mix.
Stuff cavity of fish with mixture; close opening with skewers and, if you like, lace with string; or loosely sew up opening with darning needle and heavy white thread.
Melt a little extra butter and add a little extra liquid gravy seasoning and brown sauce to it brush mixture over top of fish.
Bake in a preheated 500-degree oven for 10 minutes. Turn oven temperature to 400 degrees and continue baking until top is browned and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork—about 40 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Fish Sticks Tasty And Versatile, Too

Every so often you discover a recipe so versatile it can be served as a tasty appetizer, an elegant main dish or a satisfying snack — and always rate raves from family and guests. Fish Sticks De Jonghe is that kind of recipe. It will hold a revered spot in your cookery files.

The delicious combination of garlic butter sauce and crispy golden fish sticks served before dinner with a favorite beverage will delight your guests. Your family, too, will enjoy this change-of-pace entree partnered with a bright fruit salad, steaming green beans and savory broiled tomato halves. Watch the fish sticks disappear when you whip them up for a late evening snack when friends drop by.

The recipe is a snap to prepare because frozen fish sticks are already portioned and breaded. What's more, you don't need to thaw the fish sticks, just pop them into the baking dish.

Don't be surprised if your family asks for Fish Sticks De Jonghe often. Just remember to keep a supply of frozen fish sticks in the freezer.

Anise Cookies
2½ cups unsifted flour regular 2½ cups flour. Stir to aerate before measuring 2½ cups baking powder
Small pinch of salt
½ cup butter
3 tablespoons peanut oil
1½ cup sugar
3 large eggs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon anise extract
On wax paper stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. In a large mixing bowl beat together the butter and oil. Add sugar and beat thoroughly. Beat in eggs, one at a time, lemon rind and anise extract. Add flour mixture, mixing well. Chill if necessary to handle easily.
On a prepared pastry cloth with your palms, roll level tablespoons of the dough until each is as thick as a pencil. Tie each into a knot with ends outstretched. Place, a few inches apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until only lightly browned — about 12 minutes. Makes about 40 cookies.

Peach Melba

Easy and colorful Peach Melba — press a pint of raspberry sherbert into a 6-cup ring mold; top with vanilla ice cream. Freeze until firm. To serve, unmold and fill center with canned peach slices and fresh, frozen or canned raspberries.

Milk Cost Is Really Less

California's dairy farmers are delivering vital milk supplies to consumers at lower cost in man-minutes necessary to buy a quart of milk than ever before. Most recent figures, as we celebrate the 32nd June Dairy Month, reveal that today's average hourly wage-rate would earn the price of a quart of milk in 6½ minutes. Looking back, it took 7.9 minutes to accomplish this in 1953; 15.3 minutes in that heyday of early 1929, and in 1890, would you believe (?) 25½ minutes.

Dice Tasty Lobster In a Savory Sauce

Lobster often is considered food for special occasions only. It needn't be, since it is easy to prepare for large groups or small, is available fresh or frozen the year around, and can be embellished with a variety of delicious garnishes.

One of the easiest ways of making tasty lobster even better is dicing it in a savory sauce of mushrooms, onions, mustard, cream and sherry, topped with tangy American blue cheese. All-American blue cheese lobster is an unsurpassable treat for any season of the year, for family fare and for company.

It's a gourmet's dish that will have you out of the kitchen in a jiffy. Serve it with a garden green vegetable and piping hot corn bread.

BLUE CHEESE LOBSTER
(Serves 4)
4 frozen South African Rock Lobster tails, cooked
¼ cup butter
½ cup sliced mushrooms
Dash paprika
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon grated onion
Dash celery salt
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 cup light cream

½ cup sherry
salt and pepper to taste
½ cup American blue cheese (about 3 ounces, crumbled)
Remove lobster meat from shells. Reserve shells. Melt butter over low heat; add mushrooms and cook over low heat until browned. Add paprika, mustard, parsley, onion, celery salt and flour; blend. Gradually add cream and sherry and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Dice lobster meat and add to sauce. Season with lobster mixture. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) 10 minutes.

Fruit Fling

Mix American blue cheese to a paste with port wine. Spread on rings of raw apple or pear and serve with salted almonds and port to sip. Garnish with crisp lettuce greens.

SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE SOUP — A variety of frozen vegetables make it easy to prepare and give it great flavor. Serve hot or cold.

Scandinavian Refreshment Tip

Pureed vegetable soups, hot or cold, are one of the best dishes in European cuisine.

So here's a Scandinavian version that can offer warm sustenance on a rainy day or cool refreshment in sunny weather.

This recipe has been adapted for American cooks. That means short cuts. Convenient frozen vegetables are used. No peeling necessary.

This is a thick soup, of much the same texture as the Scandinavian soups made from dried peas, and when it was served hot in our test kitchen, all our tasters wanted it just that way. But for cold service, we suggest a thinner soup, easily accomplished by increasing the milk. One warning. Do not expect a velvet-smooth soup. The vegetables are put through a food mill and retain some texture.

SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE SOUP

1 polybag (1 pound, 8 ounces) frozen vegetables for stew

1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas

1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach

2 cups sliced celery

1/2 cup frozen chopped onion

4 cups water

1 quart milk

1/4 cup butter, at room temperature

1/4 cup flour

4 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon black pepper

Into a 5-quart saucepot turn vegetables for stew, peas, spinach, celery, onion and water. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer until vegetables are tender — about 30 minutes.

With a slotted spoon remove vegetables, a small amount at a time, to a food mill set over a bowl; puree and return to broth in saucepot. There should be at least 2 quarts — if there isn't, make up the amount with water.

In a medium saucepan over moderately low heat, heat milk until very hot but not boiling. Meanwhile in a small bowl, blend butter and flour; drop into hot milk. Stirring constantly, cook until thickened. Add this white sauce to vegetable puree with salt and pepper. Mix and reheat but do not boil. Serve hot.

Makes 3 quarts — 12 one-cup servings.

To serve the soup cold, increase the milk by 2 to 4 cups when you are making the white sauce. Then add the sauce to the puree, mix well and add more seasoning to taste. Chill.

If you like, you may freeze the vegetable puree in two, 1-quart containers and make up the soup at two different times to serve hot or cold. In this case each quart of puree will need to be teamed with only half the amount of white sauce.

The frozen vegetables for stew that we used in testing this recipe contained potatoes, carrots, onions and celery.

Now One Plans For Leftovers

"Planned-overs" are replacing left-overs. One reason is that food grilled over charcoal briquets is so flavorful that there's seldom any left. Furthermore, one never knows when the weather will permit another cook-out soon.

Two-in-one-meal preparation is the answer. If it's sunny one day and your palate hungers for charcoal broiled steak, grill a batch of hamburgers while you are eating and while the briquets are still glowing. Then refrigerate the pre-cooked hamburgers. You can spit the weather god on a rainy day, and enjoy succulent charcoal broiled flavor, when you re-heat the burgers.

It might be wise on your cook-outs to grill a batch of frankfurters over charcoal briquets. Next day they can be cut up and added to pea soup to give tang to a bland dish.

Extra charcoal grilled ham steak or beef makes a hearty hash. Or it can be added to omelets or au gratin potatoes.

LAMB RIBS TERIYAKI

Yield: 4 servings

3 to 4 pounds Breast of Lamb, cut into serving pieces

1 teaspoon ginger

1 teaspoon garlic salt

2 teaspoons sugar

3 tablespoons soy sauce

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/2 cup wine vinegar

In a small bowl, combine ginger, garlic salt, and sugar. Gradually add remaining liquid ingredients, stirring constantly to blend well. Place ribs in a shallow pan, rib side up. Pour sauce over ribs. Marinate overnight in refrigerator. Drain well. Charcoal broil very slowly over glowing coals. Turn and brush occasionally with sauce. Cook about 1 hour or until ribs are tender and well browned.

CHOPPED HAM FRITTERS

Yield: 5 servings

12 ounce can Chopped Ham

1 cup pancake mix

1/2 cup milk

1 egg

1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard

Shortening

Cut chopped ham into 1/4 inch slices. Prepare a battered pancake mix, egg, and mustard. Dip chopped ham into batter. Fry in hot shortening. Turn to brown second side. Serve with corn - on - the - cob, sliced tomatoes, and bread and butter sandwiches.

Search for Australian National Dish Rewarded: Black-Eyed Beef, Husk Salad

SYDNEY, Australia — The search for an Australian "national dish" has finally been rewarded. Thanks to a food manufacturing company executive and the wife of a Brisbane policeman.

Wear of his country suffering the chidings of the Northern Hemisphere for alleged "lack of culinary taste," Ron Francis decided to include a new category in the National Cooking Contest — "The Search for the Great Australian Dish."

The response was overwhelming as more than 20,000 recipes poured in, many with colorful titles such as Lamb Rolls Billabong, Crookwell Shellfish Pottle, Tasmanian Hoppok, Prawns Ballerina, Scallops Port Philip, Roast Pork Capricornia, Jun-buck Casserole and Baked Snapper Mullumbimby.

At the Sydney Food School, a division of Sydney Technical College, the entries were paired down to 50, from which a panel of experts picked 15 finalists.

These 15 recipes were then sent to leading chefs in 10 countries for testing and further judging.

Then came the final judging in Sydney by an impartial panel of international experts — Lucian Chassignat, chef at Hotel Maurice in Paris; Signor Antonio Prantero of the legendary Osteria dell'Orso in Italy and Napua Stevens of the Ilkai Hotel in Hawaii.

This trio personally supervised preparation of the 15 dishes, and they conceded a final determination of the winner was difficult because "many of them could find a place among recognized international dishes."

But when they came to Mrs. Robert Preston's entry, they paid the supreme compliment such culinary artists could extend — "There are no recommendations or suggestions for its improvement."

Mrs. Preston, of Italian descent, called her recipe simply "Black-Eyed Beef and Husk Salad." Now, however, it bears the title "The Great Australian Dish."

"THE GREAT AUSTRALIAN DISH" BLACK-EYED BEEF

Ingredients:
2 2 1/2-lb. Eye file of beef (in one piece)
4 oz. Butter
1 1/2 oz. Plain flour
1/2 lb. Bacon

Wine And Cheese Will Go Together

Wine and cheese have always been classic go-togethers. They can be combined easily in many foods to add distinctive flavor and mouth-watering appeal.

For tempting main dish delights featuring wine and cheese the combination of American blue cheese and a hint of port wine is delicious. More and more homemakers are relying on protein-rich American blue cheese to add extra flavor and nourishment to all their meals. With its subtly-sharp flavor, American blue is now part of America's better way of life, because homemakers realize that all it takes is just a little to lend a new and distinctive touch to entrees, salads, desserts or appetizers.

For a tempting special salad sure to please the whole family, Delight Cheese Ring is a tempting combination of creamy American blue cheese, port wine, whipped cream and fresh fruits. It is made for a meatless luncheon or a refreshing supper, when served with sliced ham. Garnish with greens and fill the center of the mold with strawberries, cherries or peaches... chilled and sliced.

DELIGHT CHEESE RING

(Serves 8)
2 tablespoons (2 envs.) unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/2 cup boiling water
(4-ounce) package cream cheese
1/2 cup American blue cheese (about 3 ounces, crumbled)
4 tablespoons port wine
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/4 cup broken walnut meats, salads greens, fresh strawberries, cherries or peaches, chilled and sliced.
Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Add boiling water to dissolve. Mash cheese well together with a fork; blend until smooth and creamy. Gradually beat in wine. Add salt.
Add dissolved gelatin to cheese mixture, stirring until well blended. Fold in whipped cream. Rinse 1-quart mold with cold water. Sprinkle walnut meats in mold. Pour in cheese gelatin; chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens and fill center with chilled sliced fruit.

8 oz. Dry white wine
1 lb. Puff pastry
1 doz. Prunes (seeded and chopped)
1 Egg yolk (for glazing)
1 cube Beef stock
Salt and pepper to taste
Set oven temperature at 400 degrees F. Insert a long, thin carving knife in the center of the file, making a tunnel from one end to the other (by twisting the knife until it penetrates). Combine bacon and prunes and place into the tunnel of the meat. Combine flour, salt and pepper and rub file well into this. Dot freely with lumps of butter. Place into baking dish and cook in hot oven (400 degrees) until the file has browned well all over — approximately 10 minutes. Add wine and cook for a further 5 minutes. Allow to cool. Save the pan juices. When file has cooled sufficiently, encase in a sheet of puff pastry about 1/4" thick, glaze with egg yolk. Place the file into a clean baking dish and with a little butter, cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for approximately 30-35 minutes, until the pastry shell has turned light golden brown. When cooked, place meat onto serving dish, cut into 1" pieces and coat freely with butter sauce.

BUTTER SAUCE
To the pan juices which have been reserved, add 8 oz. beef stock (made from stock cube) and cook, stirring constantly until sauce begins to thicken. Serve immediately. (Note: Each slice of file, encased in the golden pastry and with the bacon — prune center and serve with the Husk salad, looks particularly gala.)
This dinner serves four and would be further complimented if served with an accompaniment of Australian Burgundy wine and fine Australian cheese.

HUSK SALAD
Ingredients:
1/2 lb. Ham (cut into thin strips)
1/2 oz. Grated cheese
2 Pineapples (complete with crowns)
1 cup Croutons (small bread cubes, fried in butter until crisp)
1 Tomato (cut into small wedges)
1 Small red capsicum
Salad dressing, salt and pepper

Cut pineapples in halves right through crown (lengthwise). Remove flesh, core and cut into cubes — save shells. In a mixing bowl, place lettuce leaves, ham, grated cheese, tomato and croutons. Gently add salad dressing; mix; add pineapple cubes. Arrange into each pineapple shell and decorate with strips of capsicum.
Second Place winner:
LAMB ROLLS BILLABONG
Ingredients:
12 Lamb chops
12 Bacon slices
1 Egg

12 Pineapple rings
Plain flour
Breadcrumbs
Cooking oil
Remove meat from chops. Trim and shape each one into a round. Wrap 1 slice of bacon around each. Then secure with toothpick. Dip each into flour, egg and breadcrumbs. Brush with cooking oil and place on oven tray. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees (375 degrees gas) for 15-20 minutes. Allow 3 lamb rolls per person. Serve each one on a ring of pineapple and garnish with parsley. Serve with green peas, duchesse potatoes, glazed carrots (straws) and sauce supreme.

SAUCE SUPREME
Ingredients:
4 oz. Mushrooms
8 oz. Tomato soup
2 oz. Dry white wine
4 oz. Cream
1 oz. Butter
1/2 cup Shallots
1 Chicken cube
Black pepper to taste
Fry sliced mushrooms with chicken cube in butter about 5 minutes. Add shallots, soup, and wine and season with black pepper. Add cream and serve. (Serves four).

Rarebit—A Classic Combination of Cheddar, Egg, Piquant Seasonings, Ale

Rabbit or rarebit? By any name, there's no argument that this classic combination of zesty Cheddar cheese, egg, piquant seasonings and ale melted to a smooth, palate-teasing blend has been a diner's delight for centuries.

Food history buffs stoutly maintain the delectable dish was dubbed "rabbit" back in the Middle Ages. Apparently the castle and grounds of a prominent Welsh nobleman were besieged. He insisted on having rabbit for dinner. Bowmen were dispatched to the game preserve within the castle walls, but they failed to bag a single rabbit. The distraught cook knew his master was intent on having rabbit. Spying a wheel of cheese, he cut off a generous wedge, placed it in a sturdy vessel over the fire and melted it slowly with ale and seasonings.

Tasting the lusty golden "brew," the nobleman pronounced it the best "Welsh Rabbit" he'd ever eaten! Thus was a delightful new dish born.

The enterprising cook failed to go on to greater glory but Welsh Rabbit has won far-flung fame as a classic of great cuisine.

The success of this great dish is dependent on prime Cheddar cheese, well-aged so its flavor has that unique quality which at one and the same time combines mellowness with an underlying sharpness to tickle the taste buds.

It's the Cheddar, then, that gives Classic Cheese Rabbit its character while ale or beer plays a secondary role, for by some chemical wizardry it enhances the robust nature of the cheese. The seasonings are important, too, and egg yolk helps make a smooth blend of all the good things.

When purchasing Cheddar for rabbit and other delectable cooked dishes, remember that 4-oz. equals one cup of shredded cheese. And remember, too, that measuring guess-work can be avoided today by buying excellent quality preshredded Cheddar cheese in film bags. Many interesting and appealing variations of the basic rabbit exist now, as good cooks have added other wrinkles over the years. Some folk prefer gingerale to beer, others use tomato juice for quite a different taste experience.

Some like the added fillip of shrimp or crabmeat. And when pasteurized process cheese appeared on the scene more than a generation ago, its extra-smooth, quick melting qualities made it a "natural" for folks who like their rabbit a little on the mild side. In addition then to Classic Cheese Rabbit, we're sure you'll want to try some of its "offspring," just a few of which follow. They were developed by the home economists in The Kraft Kitchens.

New Taste Sensation With Chowder

There's a new way to trick out a chowder or soup recipe and achieve a new taste sensation—garnish with potato chip noodles. For those families who always want something new here's a different tasting, hearty chicken chowder which served with the chip noodles makes a truly epicurean main dish.

SOUP BOWL SORCERY
6 cups water
7 chicken bouillon cubes
1 10 oz. pkg. frozen mixed vegetables
1 cup boned chicken, cut into small pieces
1 4-oz. can stewed tomatoes
1 tsp powdered French salad dressing mix
Put bouillon broth in large cooking pot and bring to boil. Add frozen mixed vegetables. Cook for five minutes and add remaining ingredients. Stir to blend well. Bring to lively boil and make:

POTATO CHIP NOODLES
1 1/2 cups finely crushed potato chips
2 eggs, beaten
3 tbsp flour
1 tsp dried parsley flakes
Combine all the ingredients in a small bowl and mix well. Batter should be firm. Cut out the batter with tip end of spoon, breaking into pieces about the size of a large pea. Dip spoon into chowder frequently to clean off any clinging batter. They should be dropped gradually into boiling chowder, so as not to disturb boil. Noodles will swell to double in size. Remove from heat. Cover. Let stand for 3 or 4 minutes to mingle flavors with chowder. Serve. (Note: These new chip noodles may be cooked in plain boiling water for 3 to 4 minutes, removed with a slotted spoon to be served hot and buttery as an accompaniment to any meat dish.)

SAILORS' SUPPER
Yield: 6 servings
1 pound Pure Pork Sausage Meat
1 cup chopped onions
1 large green pepper, chopped
1 pound can (2 cups) stewed tomatoes
2 cups dairy sour cream
1 cup uncooked elbow macaroni
1 to 1 1/2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
Pan fry sausage in a large skillet until pink color disappears. Drain. Add onions and green pepper and cook slowly 5 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, sour cream, macaroni, chili powder, salt, and sugar. Cover. Simmer 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Serve hot.

The 'Wreckless' DC Driver

When is a reckless driver not a wreckless driver?

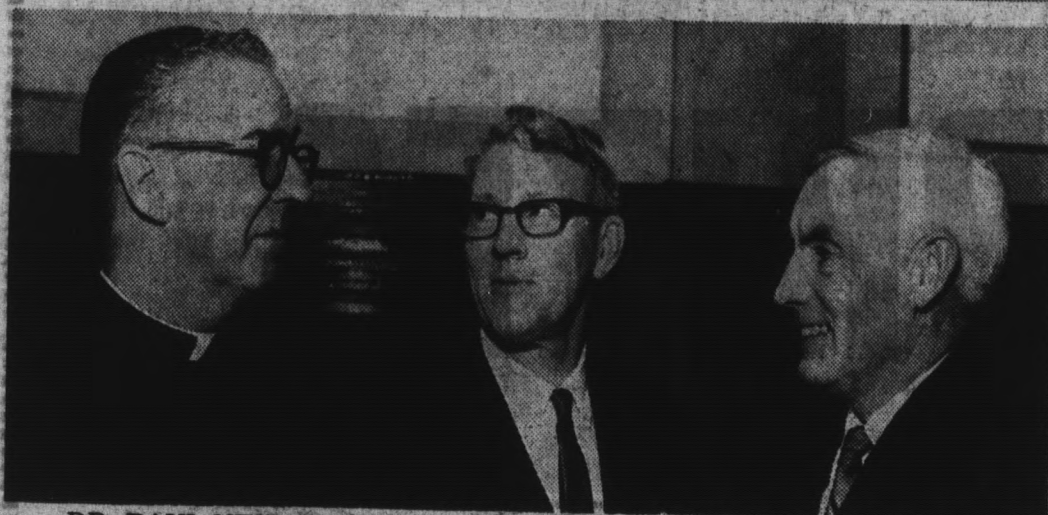

Answer: When he can race along busy Junipero Serra Boulevard in Daly City at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour, weave in and out of heavy traffic, run through several red lights and end up unscratched in city jail.

Officer William Moeller claims that's what happened while he was on patrol last Wednesday at 11:15 p.m.

A car driven by John Riegel, 20, of 755 Templeton Street, Daly City, was allegedly speeding along the thoroughfare near School Street when Officer Moeller spotted it and started his miles-long chase, which took him down the boulevard, around South San Francisco and into the Serramonte housing development via Hickey Boulevard.

Moeller said speeds during the chase often topped 100 miles and continued until Riegel came to the end of incomplete Hickey Boulevard, where he was arrested for reckless driving.

DR. PAUL NEILSEN, center, South San Francisco School Superintendent, received the annual Roy W. Cloud Award at the University of San Francisco, for "distinction in educational administration." USF's president, Rev. Charles W. Dulles, S.J., left, and Dr. John R. Devine offered congratulations. The award is named for a long-time San Mateo County school superintendent and executive secretary of the California Teacher's Association. USF will graduate 100 future teachers and education specialists on June 2. Dr. Devine, a South San Francisco resident, is the university's director of teacher training.

Woman Is Burned in Bruno Fire

A San Bruno woman suffered minor burns of the back and head Saturday when a sofa in a family room burst into flames.

Beverly Helen Spate, 37, was admitted to Peninsula Hospital for treatment. Her condition was described as "fine" by hospital officials.

San Bruno firemen said they were called to the residence at 519 Fourth Avenue at 6:30 a.m.

They found the garage and rear family room "Charged" with smoke and the sofa burning.

In searching other rooms in the house, the firemen discovered a woman standing in the kitchen. She was given first aid by the firemen, then rushed to Peninsula Hospital.

Firemen said the fire, which caused an estimated $250 damage, possibly might have started from a cigarette that had dropped onto the sofa.

Market And Theater In D.C. Robbed

Two robberies were reported in Daly City by a pair of armed gunmen within five hours of each other in widely separated sections of the city.

Police suspect both crimes were committed by the same men.

The pair first held up the Mission Drive-in Theater at 500 Guttenburg Road shortly after 10 p.m. and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash from the box office.

An unidentified woman attendant told police the pair walked up to the entrance, pointed a pistol at her and demanded all the money. They fled on foot.

At 3:12 a.m., a pair of gunmen matching the description of the previous suspects, held up the Mayfair Market at 2350 Junipero Serra Boulevard and fled after grabbing an estimated $600 from the night clerk.

Police said there was only one shopper in the store at the time of the incident.

The gunmen were described as Negroes, between 18 and 21 years old, dressed in dark clothing, and armed with large pistols. Police said the descriptions were sketchy in both cases, but might be the same pair.

Housewife Stabs Mate

A Daly City housewife was arrested for assault with a deadly weapon after she allegedly stabbed her husband in the chest with a butcher knife during a heated family argument last Wednesday.

Police arrested Mrs. Mabel Lane, 54, after she told them she had plunged a knife into her 54-year-old husband, Paul, at the couple's Midvale Street home.

Lane, a merchandise buyer for a local firm, was reported in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit of Mary's Help Hospital.

According to police, the Lanes recently moved into the city from Texas.

Detective captain Richard Sims said police were called to the home twice the same day.

The first time police were asked to visit the home, to quell a heated argument between the husband and wife, was shortly before 4 p.m.

Sims said the officers left the home after they had been as-

Car Crashes

S.S.F. Station

A Brisbane motorist caused heavy damage to a South San Francisco service station last Thursday, his car slamming into a telephone booth, soft-drink vending machines and knocking one corner of the station building off its foundation.

South San Francisco police officers who were following the driver — 29-year-old Nicholas Alfred Fabulino of 465 Mariposa, Brisbane — said Fabulino was about to be stopped because his auto headlights were not turned on a short time before the accident.

Patrolman Alfred Lagomarsino and Ronald Petrocelli reported they spotted Fabulino shortly after 1 a.m., driving south on South Canal Street.

They said that while they were following Fabulino, he ran a stop sign at Canal and Linden Avenue, continuing into the Gulf Oil service station at 35 South Linden.

One soft-drink vending machine was demolished and another slightly damaged when Fabulino's auto smashed into them.

A telephone booth was destroyed, though it is reported the instrument itself still works. A sliding glass door was smashed and a power box was damaged, with South San Francisco firemen checking it out to make certain it was safe.

The southwest corner of the station was knocked from its foundation, the police said.

Fabulino was cited for failure to stop at a stop sign and for driving without headlights. He was unhurt.

St. Veronica's Parish Starts 'Helping Hands'

A community service project has been undertaken by the members of St. Veronica's Parish. In a spirit of Christian charity this organization called "Helping Hands" endeavors to provide services to families, Catholic and Non-Catholic alike, in times of stress.

If a mother is hospitalized, volunteers will cook, clean house, and care for the children. In times of emergency such as this the "Helping Hands" group will provide necessary aid on temporary basis until professional assistance is available.

"Helping Hands" is organized on a neighborhood level. Two people in each area have been designated as contacts and will arrange services for individuals and/or referred parties in need.

On June 8, brochures explaining this service and listing phone numbers of volunteers in each area will be distributed to all the homes within the boundaries of St. Veronica's Parish. Any Catholic or Non-Catholic who wishes to extend a helping hand to a neighbor may contact Mrs. John Harness in South San Francisco.

Temple Schedules Confirmation

Confirmation ceremonies will be held during Shavuot Services at Congregation B'nai Israel, Colma, Sunday at 10 a.m.

Services are to be conducted by Rabbi Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Henry Greenberg. The confirmands, who have completed 10 years of their religious school education, are Marcy Dobrow, Mark Friedman, Harvey Goldberg, Gary Kushneer, and Jeanine Hirschhorn. They will participate in the service and will speak individually during the ceremonies on the major Jewish religious holidays.

Additional talks will be presented by Marcy Dobrow and Mark Friedman, representing the class. Presentations on behalf of the congregation will be made by Wolf Schlesinger, congregation president; George Bilick, religious school coordinator and Norm Friedberg, religious school principal.

Menahem Gottlieb, instructor, will present the class. A reception honoring the confirmands will be hosted by their parents immediately following the services.

Yiskor (Memorial) services during the Shavuot holiday will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel on Sunday, at 8 p.m.
